

House Group Offers Tax Bill to House as Means Of Ending Tax Defect

Revenue Yield Estimated at $803,000,000; The Opening Debate Commences Thursday; Heated Controversy Expected.

NO PROCESSING

Roosevelt's Suggestion That Processing Taxes Be Included Was Omitted Entirely.

Washington, April 22 (AP)—Estimating the revenue yield at $803,000,000, the Ways and Means Committee majority formally recommended its new tax bill to the House today as a means of correcting "the greatest defect in our present system of taxation."

The Republican minority already had called the tax plan drafted on President Roosevelt's suggestions a "vicious" threat to "the stability of business and employment."

The opposing views foretold the heated controversy into which the 249-page bill headed as leaders set aside tomorrow for opening debate.

The Democratic committee majority, filing its report on the bill, said the new plan of taxing corporations not income, with rates fixed according to the proportion of earnings undistributed, would provide the remedy for the major defect in the existing tax system by which "surpluses on individuals are avoided by impounding income in corporate surpluses."

Chief purposes of the proposed change in the method of taxing corporate incomes, the report said, were:

To prevent avoidance of surtax by individuals through the accumulation of incomes by corporations; to remove serious inequities and inequalities between corporate partnership, and individual forms of business organizations, and to remove the inequity as between large and small shareholders resulting from the present flat corporate rates.

The committee majority conceded that its tax program would not come up to the revenue requirements outlined by President Roosevelt for the next three years.

Mr. Roosevelt's suggestion that processing taxes be included was omitted entirely.

The report said the new corporation tax system "is estimated to produce an average of at least $620,000,000 in additional revenue annually when it comes into full operation."

In that respect, the report said the bill meets the President's request for permanent taxes to finance the new farm program and the additional cost of prepayment of the bonus.

But the report showed that instead of producing $517,000,000 temporarily over the next three years as requested by Mr. Roosevelt, it would bring in only $183,000,000 in the 1937 fiscal year.

Request Taken Care Of

The committee said this would take care of the President's request "until next session of Congress, which can then act more intelligently in the light of conditions then existing."

The program contemplates obtaining $100,000,000 from a "windfall" tax on processors who avoided payment of AAA processing levies and $83,000,000 from temporary retention of capital stock in excess profits taxes.

Republicans based their opposition on two contentions: That new taxes should not be "levied until the waste of public monies is stopped"; and that the "proposed bill is unsound in principle, will undermine business stability, and is another step toward the regimentation of all business; it is not designed to raise revenue, but is a thinly veiled attempt to deal with the deficit."

The committee majority planned to make public its report today, and leaders intended to begin debate in the House tomorrow, with the idea of passing the bill by May 1.

Democratic advocates of the bill contend it would mean more equitable taxation and would prevent evasions, thereby performing the twofold function of tax reform and revenue production.

The Republicans on the Ways and Means Committee, who had their first glimpse of the completed tax bill yesterday, immediately put their heads together to draft their report. It said the government should adopt a pay-as-you-go policy, but contended that the present bill was a "farce."

It should be viewed with "suspicion," the minority held, because it is "directly in line" with Renford G. Taggart's means and because it was "wholeheartedly endorsed" at hearings by a representative of the Communist party.

25,000 More Taxpayers

Albany, N. Y., April 22 (AP)—Mark Green, state commissioner of taxation and finance, pointed today to the fact that 25,000 more persons have paid a state income tax this year than last as "an obvious sign of better times."

Graves said it seems "altogether likely that the field will closely approximate Governor Lehman's estimate of $75,000,000."

Fiorenza Arraigned In Titterton Murder

JOHN C. FIORENZA

New York, April 22 (AP)—John Fiorenza, 24-year-old upholsterer's helper, admitted before 300 detectives in the police lineup today that he killed Mrs. Nancy Evans Titterton in her Beekman Place apartment.

Fiorenza, unshaven and minus shoe laces, belt and necktie, was the thirteenth prisoner placed on the platform for questioning.

Asked by Deputy Inspector Daniel J. Curran if he assaulted and then strangled the 34-year-old author, Fiorenza replied:

"Yes."

"This is the sixth arrest of this man," Curran told the detectives. The others were for grand larceny, and on one conviction Fiorenza served a term in Elmira reformatory.

The prisoner, who admitted the slaying yesterday to police Commissioner Lewis J. Valentine after he had been traced through cord left in the apartment, was viewed by three British police officials who visited the lineup.

Detectives then handcuffed Fiorenza, who appeared extremely nervous, to take him to homicide court for arraignment.

The young man indicated to officers yesterday that the assault was his only motive in entering the apartment. They expressed fear he might try to commit suicide.

For hours last night he paced his cell muttering unintelligibly while two policemen stood at the door under orders never to let their gaze wander from him.

Lights turned on him showed he was suffering a reaction from the bravado he displayed yesterday when he showed police at the scene of the crime how he attacked and killed the attractive young writer.

Fiorenza was booked on a homicide charge late yesterday after an announcement by Police Commissioner Lewis J. Valentine that he had confessed the 11-day-old crime.

Treasury Receipts

Washington, April 22 (AP)—The position of the Treasury April 20: Receipts, $12,560,779.35; expenditures, $28,535,095.51; balance, $2,552,308,752.38.

Customs receipts for the month, $22,154,723.43; receipts for the fiscal year (since July 1), $2,262,323,724.46; expenditures, $5,791,501,660.00 (including $2,647,558,907.27 of emergency expenditures); excess of expenditures, $2,528,161,935.51. Gross debt, $21,441,904,420.42, a decrease of $2,114,211.50 from the previous day; gold assets, $10,208,025,309.90.

Townsend Subpoenaed

Washington, April 22 (AP)—Dr. F. E. Townsend, founder of the plan to pay $200 monthly pensions to all persons over 60, has been subpoenaed to appear May 5 before the House committee investigating the Townsend movement.

Downing, personal counsel for Dr. Townsend, said today the subpoena was served on the redneck California physician at his Washington Hotel. Downing said Dr. Townsend "insisted" that he be allowed to testify as soon as the opportunity presented itself.

Salvatore Passtore, 31, of 639 North Sixth street, Newark, N. J., was the victim of a horrible death this morning at 4:45 between Milton and Marlborough when his truck burned after colliding with another.

Thomas Gibney's home on the easterly side of the state highway, 9-W, was saved from complete destruction by the Milton and Marlborough fire departments, after it caught fire from the burning truck and its load.

James Butler Donohue of 30 Trinity Place, Albany, whose truck was involved in the collision with that of Passtore was driving escaped uninjured.

According to Sergeant Lockhart of the state troopers, who investigated the accident, Donohue's truck, owned by the Reich Transportation Company, Ridgefield, N. J., was proceeding south with a load of coated paper. The other truck, owned by the Carolo Transportation Company of Newark, N. J., driven by Passtore, and loaded with baled paper, was headed north on the left side of the highway, apparently traveling at a high rate of speed.

Collision on Turn

The collision occurred on a turn in front of the Gibney home, and the impact drove the trucks into the lawn, about five feet away from the dwelling. Shaken by the collision, the bales of paper on the Carolo truck went forward, covering the cab. The load, pushing ahead, forced Passtore's body partly out of the cab, but he could not escape because his feet were wedged so that he couldn't move.

Passtore's truck and its load caught fire, and before he could be loosened to escape he was enveloped by the raging inferno that set fire to the Gibney residence, destroying the left side and a portion of the inside, which was damaged also by fire poured into the blaze by the fire companies to save it from complete destruction.

Death Was Agonizing

When Coroner Leston D. DuBois, who investigated with Sergeant Lockhart, examined Passtore's body, it was shriveled and shrunk to the size of a child's, indicating that his death was an agonizing one.

The Gibney family escaped from their house, which is the property of James Dowd, Milton, before the flames made much headway. Mr. Dowd said he had fire insurance on the house, but was unable to say to what extent the damage amounted.

Survey having to be made by the insurance company.

Relatives of Passtore notified Sergeant Lockhart from Newark that they would arrive at the DuBois morgue as soon as possible to make funeral arrangements.

THIEVES STEAL RADIATOR CAPS FROM PARKED CARS

It was reported to the police department last evening that a thief or thieves had stolen radiator caps from a number of cars parked in the vicinity of the Orpheum theatre on Broadway during the past week the police have received several complaints that articles had been stolen from cars which were left parked in various sections of the city.

Fed of Controversy

Highland Falls, N. Y., April 22 (AP)—The protracted controversy over reinstatement of a teacher who rapped a pupil's knuckles with a ruler appeared today to be ended.

Mothers who sought with indifference to succeed to organize a strike in protest decided to send their children back to the sixth grade in Fort Montgomery school, taught by Mrs. Carrie F. Hryns. One mother held out and members of the Parent-Teacher Association also decided to have one of their number visit the school daily and watch developments.

Runes For Fresh Evidence

Brooklyn, N. Y., April 22 (AP)—District Attorney William F. X. Geohean, with an array of fresh witnesses, hunted today for missing pieces to the Wendell abduction puzzle so the Kings county grand jury might view a complete picture before considering indictments.

Geohean, who said the case is still "far from complete," admitted "I do not know myself the possible ramifications of this investigation."

General Problems

New York, April 22 (AP)—Members of the American Newspaper Publishers Association turned their attention to general problems of the industry today at their annual convention. Freedom of the press was scheduled as one of the principal topics on the day's program, with particular reference to charges that this principle was abridged recently by two government attorneys.

Testimony, Evidence At Flood Control Hearing Held At Allaben Tuesday

Army Engineers Receive Testimony and Evidence as to Damage Done by Floods in the Catskill Mountain Territory.

NO DECISION

No Decision Was Reached and Army Engineers Made No Statement as to Next Step.

Allaben town hall, town of Shandaken, was crowded to capacity Tuesday afternoon and many interested persons stood throughout the flood control hearing which was conducted by army engineers. Presiding over the meeting was Lieut. Col. John W. N. Schulz, U. S. Army engineer for the First District of New York. Assisting him were Principal Engineer H. E. Libby, Engineer Steinbergh of the New York District and also Engineer V. F. Spring and Henry F. Bamberger of the Philadelphia District.

The meeting was called pursuant to the provisions of a bill introduced in Congress by Congressman Philip Goodwin and passed which provided for a survey by Army Engineers of the various water sheds in Ulster, Greene, Sullivan, Delaware and Schoharie counties. Under the Goodwin bill the Catskill mountain territory was included in the survey which had previously been authorized and which included flood areas in Central and Southern New York. Funds for this preliminary survey were authorized by Congress and early this spring during the high water period engineers visited the streams and made a first hand inspection of conditions. Following that survey the public meeting was called for the purpose of securing from officials and local residents some ideas as to the damage done and also as to the cost of giving relief from flood conditions.

Col. Schulz opened the meeting by announcing the purpose. He said that the meeting had been called to receive testimony and evidence as to the damage done property and that from the evidence given by damaged property owners a report would be made up and recommendations would be made to Congress. From the facts and figures submitted at the hearing Tuesday will largely depend the recommendations made by the engineers and whether they will recommend that the amount of damage done warrants the expenditure of Federal funds for flood control in the affected area. He called for a free expression of conditions and said that any fact pertinent to the subject would be welcomed.

At the meeting were County Superintendent James F. Loughran of Ulster county as well as county superintendents from adjacent counties where highways and bridges had been seriously damaged by flood conditions. Several supervisors from flood damaged towns were in attendance and spoke, as well as several attorneys, representing property owners, and a large number of substantial property owners.

No Decision Reached

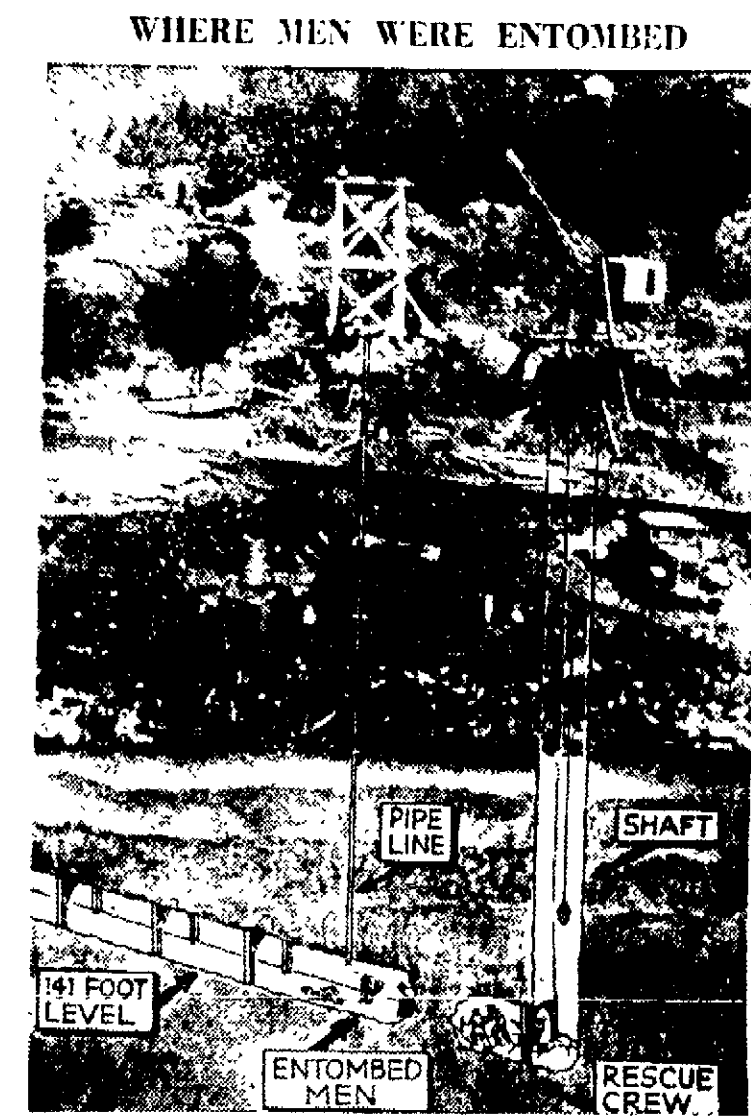

No decision was reached at the conclusion of the meeting and the Army Engineers made no statement as to what would be the next step and no intimation was made as to what their report and recommendations might be.

At the opening of the hearing several letters were received from officials not present and these letters were placed on file and made a part of the record. Such letters were received from the Sullivan county superintendent of highways regarding conditions in Sullivan county.

A letter was received from M. R. Francis of Tannersville stating that he had been under the impression a meeting would be held at Hunter. He suggested a flood control dam between Tannersville and Hunter. No meeting is contemplated at Hunter. Included in the documentary evidence submitted was a resolution from the town board of Rosendale which stated that the Rondout creek at Rosendale was a serious menace to the village and that if the condition was given attention the operation of the town could be looked forward to. In the letter it was suggested that attention should be directed to the island in the Rondout at that point, this island it was stated narrowed the creek and was responsible for at least part of the trouble.

Rescuers Reach 2 Entombed Men in Nova Scotia Gold Mine Today, Both in Great Agony

This combination photo and chart shows the fight waged in an effort to save the lives of Dr. D. E. Robertson and Alfred Scadding, trapped underground for more than a week in an abandoned gold mine at Moose River, N. S. The emergency shaft was sunk to the approximate level of the entombed men and then rescuers tunneled in their direction. Herman Magill, who was trapped with the others, died in the mine after rescuers had established contact with the victims. (Associated Press Photo)

STILL GREAT PERIL

Rescuers Still Face Heavy Odds With Slides Imminent; Men Ask for Hypodermics.

(Copyright 1936, by Associated Press)

Moose River, N. S., April 22—A rescue crew digging through 141 feet of rock and dirt reached today the two living men entombed more than nine days in the Moose River gold mine.

They broke through a final wall of stone and dirt to reach Dr. D. E. Robertson and Charles Alfred Scadding, both of whom were in agony from the privations they have endured during their long wait underground.

A group of three hard-boiled coal miners, members of Nova Scotia's famous mine rescue organization, the draughtmen, formed the spearhead of the underground attack which reached the noted Toronto surgeon and his friend.

Their companion on the descent into the gold mine on Easter Sunday night, Herman Magill, died two days ago from privations.

No unbearable was the pain that the two entombed men suffered that Dr. Robertson asked for hypodermic injections at once.

At the top of the rescue shaft stood hundreds of persons. Many of them had been on duty day and night, striving as best they could to assist in the work of rescue.

When the report came up from the depths that the two imprisoned men at last had been reached, cheers broke out.

The excitement was so intense that Royal Canadian Mounted police cleared a space and warned the crowd to stay back from the mine head.

Stretchers, prepared by the ambulance unit on duty during the last five days, were taken down the shaft to assist in bringing up the men.

There still was danger down below, for the rescue crews had pushed forward so fast that little time had been wasted in shoring up the crumbling walls properly.

The announcement of the rescuers' apparent success was made by an excited miner who came to the top of the rescue shaft and shouted:

"We've got through!"

For anxious moments afterward, there was no further news from the workings, but it was surmised that the miners had reached a comparatively unobstructed gallery leading to the trapped men.

Dr. F. R. Davies, minister of health of Nova Scotia, went down the rescue shaft carrying a hypodermic needle and other medical supplies.

Other men picked up blankets and hot water bottles to be used in caring for the suffering men below.

It was not known on the surface how long it would take to get the two living men and the body of their dead companion into the open air, but officials said they thought it would take at least an hour.

The way which lay before them was a long, twisting, narrow, low tunnel, through which it was difficult to carry anything.

The special stretchers which had been devised for the rescue had rope supports to permit them to bend around the tortuous passageway.

Miners said they feared any jars against the sides of the tunnel might cause a landslide.

The three men in the lead of the rescue effort were Joe Simpson, George Morrill and H. H. Hilditch. They had worked steadily since 3 a. m. in the last push to reach the men.

It was those three who first opened the Reynolds shaft, through which the approach was begun, and it was they who tore out the last rock from the rescue tunnel.

They were the "face workers" who tore material blocking their progress from their place with bare hands or picks. In an unproped tunnel, caving through an area which had already collapsed there was one of the most dangerous jobs imaginable.

The wives of the two living men and the widow of the dead were waiting anxiously in the mine office several hundred yards from the face of the shaft for the return to be effected.

Mrs. Magill returned here from Halifax where she went immediately on learning of her husband's death Monday morning.

Mrs. Scadding arrived here last night while Mrs. Robertson has been on the scene since a week ago Tuesday when she arrived with Mrs. Magill.

Authorities ordered an inquest into the death of Magill to be held as soon as his body reached the surface.

Sammons Saves Man Overcome by Smoke in Chambers Street Fire

Nick Pimley Was Smoking in Bed And Coverings Caught Fire—Unable to Leave Room Is Carried to Safety by Policemen—Sammons—Other Fires Here Today

Walter J. Keyser of 57 Chambers street was awakened about 3 o'clock this morning by the odor of smoke.

He dressed hurriedly and left the house to find that smoke was issuing from the second story windows of the house next door, at 55 Chambers street.

He turned in an alarm for the fire department and then rushed into the house where he met Moses Pimley, 78, who told him his son, Nick Pimley, was still up in a bedroom on the second floor.

Keyser rushed up the stairs and as he opened the bedroom door was met with volumes of smoke that poured out of the room. He called to Pimley, but the latter did not answer. Keyser went outside and met one of the police radio cars in charge of Officers E. J. Leonard and Sammons, which had driven up to the house.

Officer Sammons when he learned that Pimley was still up in the bedroom rushed upstairs. There are two beds in the room. One was burning brightly and the burning mattress was throwing off heavy clouds of smoke. Pimley had left the burning bed and thrown himself across the bed on the other side of the room. He told the officer that he could not leave the room as his legs hurt him.

The officer picked Pimley up and carried him down the stairs. At the foot of the stairs the officer and his burden were met by Fireman William Geary who gave a hand in carrying Pimley out of the house.

Officer Leonard had been unable to assist his fellow officer for another call came to open the police radio, and when he returned from answering the call it was to find that Sammons had Pimley safe down stairs. Pimley was placed in the car and rushed to the Kingston Hospital for treatment for inhaling smoke. His condition is not considered serious.

According to the fire department the fire was caused by a lighted candle in bed. The damage was estimated to be $1,000. The fire was extinguished by the fire department.

About 10 o'clock this morning the fire department responded to a still alarm in the Dover boat and on Abel street where a girl had

High Falls Entertains The Ulster County Firemen's Association

A very interesting and largely attended meeting of the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association was held at High Falls Tuesday night, when the members of the Association were the guests of the High Falls fire department.

Edward Moran, president of the County Association, presided during the business session and then turned the meeting over to J. Ellis Briggs, president of the High Falls department. Mr. Briggs called upon Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy of Kingston, who spoke briefly and then presented Joseph Coleman, superintendent of the Firemen's Home at Hudson. Mr. Coleman entertained the firemen with a showing of some 2800 feet of moving pictures depicting the Home at Hudson and the grounds and buildings connected with it. Included in the picture was one of the hospital and operating room and some unusual and very interesting views of actual operations being performed.

The High Falls firemen then contributed a comic picture to the entertainment after which they served nice refreshments.

Chief Murphy says that the but recently organized High Falls department is a credit to the town and that they have a fine new hall in which to hold their meetings and entertain.

The Phoenixia fire department will entertain the Association at its May meeting. At this meeting the question of designating a place for holding the county convention of the Association and the parade, will be taken up.

"The Blue Forest" Here on April 28

Dorothy Orton

Not only are the children of the public schools anticipating the prospect of hearing and seeing the wonderful opera in three acts, "The Blue Forest," to be given at the Kingston Auditorium on the afternoon of April 28, but the grown-ups are almost as much interested judging from the number of patron tickets already sold by members of the Prisma Society which is sponsoring this fine production. The Princess in this Fairytale Opera will be Dorothy Orton, young American soprano who has already won deserved popularity for her charming staging and portrayal of this particular role.

Quite aside from the opera itself, Kingston music lovers may want to hear this opera, for who knows, they may again be hearing a future great operatic star. It will be remembered that it is only two or three years ago that Josephine Antoinette sang for the young people of Kingston, the solo part in Hansel and Gretel. Today she is the outstanding soloist who appeared in the stellar role at the Metropolitan Opera House in New York City.

Tickets for "The Blue Forest" may be procured from members of the High School Prisma Society.

Calles Reprisals Shake Mexico, 1 Man Dead, 1 Mutilated

Mexico City, April 22 (AP)—The name of Mexico's ousted "strong man," former President Plutarco Elias Calles, echoed in the state of Vera Cruz today in the wake of violence that brought the death of one school master, mutilation of another and the burning of three school houses.

Seventy armed rebels, shouting "viva Calles," and "viva Christ the King," swooped down upon the tiny, isolated towns of Eltepequez, Buena Vista and Pochotilla last night and burned their public schools before soldiers chased them back into the hills.

Prof. Carlos Toledano, captured by the rebels was burned to death, while another teacher, Pablo Jimenez, was set free with his ears cut off.

Dispatches from Tapachcoyan said eight soldiers, though outnumbered, killed several of the insurgents.

Reinforcements from nearby Tezuitlan helped them hunt today the remainder of the rebel band in the hills of northern Vera Cruz.

The rebels' reported coupling of vivas for Calles and "Christ the King" was ironic, for Calles, arrested and exiled to the United States by President Lazaro Cardenas' government, rigidly enforced measures to curb the power of the Catholic church. The attacks on the schoolhouses and teachers served to emphasize anew the opposition to the government's socialistic education policy, which during recent months has resulted in the killing or mutilation of many teachers.

At the time Calles and three of his supporters were seized and hauled out of the country there were official intimations that he was conspiring against the Cardenas regime.

Prevailing opinion at the capital, however, was that the man who so long dominated Mexico's political horizon could have had no connection with the Vera Cruz disorders.

Gagne's Mail Dances.

In the ad which appeared in Tuesday's Freeman advertising the weekly dances at Gagne's Hall, Cotekill, the days were stated as being Saturday. This is an error as the dances are being held on Tuesday evenings.

Card Party.

A card party will be held Thursday evening at 8 o'clock at American Legion Hall, West O'Reilly street. Pinochle and bridge will be played and refreshments will be served. The proceeds of the card party will be devoted to the benefit of the graduation class of School No. 8. The public is invited.

FLASHES OF LIFE SKETCHED IN BRIEF

By Associated Press

ON THE POLITICAL FRONT

HAROLD L. ICKES

(By The Associated Press)

Wherever the presidential campaign reaches the bare-knuckle stage, wherever the cries and lamentations are the loudest, Harold L. Ickes will be doing battle.

Ickes is perhaps the most titled and the most irrepressible man in the "new deal" administration. Nominally a Republican, his task is to try to rally the progressives, of all shades, behind the Roosevelt ticket.

He will be depended on to influence the political descendants of the Bull Moose of another generation and the midwestern liberals, to whom party labels always have meant little.

Whatever may be said of the feelings of others who must carry the load, Ickes most certainly will enjoy his work. A master of the sardonic word, he perhaps never feels the rest of life so keenly as when belaboring an opponent.

Highway Safety

Waterbury, Conn., April 22 (AP)—Ray Murphy, National Commander of the American Legion, promised today that the organization he heads will conduct a vigorous campaign for highway safety. This he listed as one of the objectives of the American Legion program in a talk prepared for delivery before a group of Legionnaires here.

TRY THIS FOOT REMEDY

Cure Little and Makes Feet Feel Fine

Foot aches gather round; get right up close and listen. Here's good news for you. The real foot remedy is here at last. Ice-Mint is said to quickly and foot misery. Hard corns, soft corns, or corns between the toes, also toughened calluses, shrivel up and fall off. It's wonderful. There is no pain or soreness when applying Ice-Mint or afterwards, and it doesn't even irritate the skin.

Think of it: Just a little of that cooling, soothing Ice-Mint, and real foot joy is yours. Ice-Mint prevents foot-odors and keeps them sweet and comfortable. It is the real secret for fine, healthy feet, and keeps you free from foot troubles. Every person who has suffered with stubborn corns or tender feet can appreciate the cooling, soothing comfort Ice-Mint brings; especially women who wear high heeled shoes, and men who have to stand all day on their feet. Try it. Get some Ice-Mint from your drugist today and give your poor, tired, suffering, burning feet the treat of their lives. There is nothing better.—Adv.

NEW HURLEY

New Hurley, April 22.—Mrs. Harry Birch, who underwent an operation on Thursday at Goshen Emergency Hospital, is resting comfortably. Her many friends hope for a speedy recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Josiah LeFevre of New Paltz, who have spent the winter in North Carolina, have been spending a few days with their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Denniston.

Mr. and Mrs. Peck of Norwich, Conn., were recent guests at the home of their daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Harland. Mrs. William Tears of Poughkeepsie is spending some time at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Birch.

Mrs. Countryman of Montela has been a guest of her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Countryman.

Mr. and Mrs. N. T. Cocks of New York spent the week-end at their home in this place.

Mrs. Cordella Van Kleeck of Montgomery spent Friday afternoon with friends in this place.

Mrs. Carrie J. Birdsall and son, Mulford, and Miss Mabel Mulford of Newark, N. J., were callers on friends in this place on Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerow Wilkin and son, James, and Mrs. J. H. Denniston were dinner guests on Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Eli Mackey and son at Forest Glen.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Halt of Middletown and Mrs. Kenneth McElman of New York spent Sunday afternoon with their aunt and cousins, Mrs. Isaac Sutton and family.

Harold Birch and Felix Averil spent a few days last week in Washington, they being among the graduates of the Walden High School.

The Young Women's Club was pleasantly entertained at the home of Mrs. Roy Denniston on Friday afternoon, April 17. The meeting was called to order by the president, Mary Rhodes, and a short business meeting was held after which a social hour was enjoyed. Refreshments were served with Miss Bertha Sutton as assistant hostess. The following members were present:

Mary Rhodes, Ethel Alsford, Bertha Powell, Helen Garrison, Marjorie Humphrey, Bertha Nelson, Nellie Thorne, Viva Van Kleeck, Florence Van Wyck, Reta Edmonds, Anna Bell Brown, Helen Wilkin, Catherine Schoonmaker and little daughter, Mary Lou, Eva Zimmer and son, Lloyd, Mrs. J. H. Denniston and the hostess, Margaret Denniston, and daughter, Susanna, and Bertha Sutton.

Several here heard the Rev. Floyd L. Cornish of the Forest Park Reformed Church, Woodhaven, L. I., who had charge of the morning devotion over station WJZ on Saturday morning. The Rev. Mr. Cornish was a former pastor of the Gardiner Reformed Church.

There will be regular preaching services here next Sunday morning at 11 o'clock, daylight saving time, and Sunday School at 10 o'clock. All services are on daylight saving time.

O. E. S. Card Party

Y. M. C. A. Drive Opened Last Night

Tuesday night the Central Young Men's Christian Association opened its annual financial drive with a supper for all of the workers of the campaign at the "Y." Following the supper, the group was addressed by the Rev. Howard E. Thompson, solicitation cards were distributed, and the campaign was officially under way. The goal of the campaign is $15,000.

Clarence Dumm, general chairman of the campaign, presided at the meeting and extended greetings to all of the workers present. Greetings were also extended to the workers from Clarence S. Rowland, president of the Board of Directors, and from William C. Kingman of the Board of Trustees. Mr. Dumm then presented to the workers the campaign officials, Howard St. John, co-general chairman; C. S. Treadwell, initial gifts committee chairman; Fred Van Deusen, publicity chairman; Stanley Winne, out-of-town concerns chairman; E. J. Trowbridge, out-of-town concerns chairman; D. N. Secore, general arrangements chairman; Mrs. D. N. Secore, dinners chairman; John Schwenk, team enlistment chairman; Herbert Myers, manager, and William E. Miller, co-manager of the Giants; Emil G. Bozack, manager, and Chester A. Balz, co-manager of the Cubs; Lamont Winter, manager of the Pirates; James Scott, manager, and Wilson Ingalls, co-manager of the Cardinals; Nelson H. Fuller, coach of the Giants and the Cubs; Charles Henke, coach of the Pirates and the Cardinals; Paul Zucca, campaign song leader, and Dan Bittner, campaign pianist.

Mr. Dumm then introduced the speaker of the evening, the Rev. Howard E. Thompson, pastor of Trinity M. E. Church in Newburgh. During his talk, the Rev. Mr. Thompson stressed the need of good influences for youth and the need for physical, social and spiritual development for young men, stating that no organization is better equipped to render this service than the Y. M. C. A. He also urged the workers not to think of their work as begging or even soliciting but rather as selling a program for youth.

Following the talk by the Rev. Mr. Thompson, C. S. Schoonmaker, campaign director, gave instruction to the workers which was followed by the selection of cards by the various workers. The supper for last night's meeting was prepared by the Ladies' Auxiliary of the "Y" and was served by ladies from the Church of the Comforter and the Rondout Presbyterian and the Elmendorf Street Presbyterian Churches. During the supper, the group was frequently led in the singing of several modern songs by Paul Zucca, accompanied by Dan Bittner on the piano.

At present the Cubs are in the lead for the league pennant having 27 men present at last night's meeting. The Giants are second, having 21 present. The Cardinals are third and the Pirates last.

This evening at the "Y" the first report meeting will be held, with supper being served at 6:25 p. m. At this meeting, all of the workers are expected to report the amount of their first contributions. Mayor C. J. Heileman will be the speaker at tonight's supper. General Chairman Clarence Dumm is very anxious that this report shall be a good report in order to assure the success of the campaign.

Daddy—Sonny what did the teacher say about your arithmetic work? Sonny—she said she would rather you wouldn't try to help me with it.

Sonny—Are you an angel, daddy dear?

Daddy Dear—Well—er—not exactly dear. Why do you ask?

Sonny—I heard mother say she was going to clip your wings.

Sometimes my mom whips me real hard when I do awkward things. Like knockin' down our big floor lamp while tryin' out hand springs. I shut my mouth and act real brave like a big two-fisted guy. I try to grin—en I bust out—Gee, I wish I didn't cry. When our teacher calls me to stand before the class, an' says I'm gettin' awfule an' at I'll never pass. I act just like I didn't care an' wink the other eye. But when she taps me with her ruler—Gee, I wish I didn't cry. Sometimes my guys at the pitcher show at down on the front seat. Watchin' troubles happen to a girl that's kind an' sweet. I rub my sleeve across my face like I was brushin' off a fly. I hope the guys don't see me—Gee, I wish I didn't cry.—R. A. W.

A man whose son is learning to play the piano, left home the other evening to seek relief, when one of his companions happened to ask him how the boy was progressing. "He plays just like Paderewski," he replied, "with both hands."

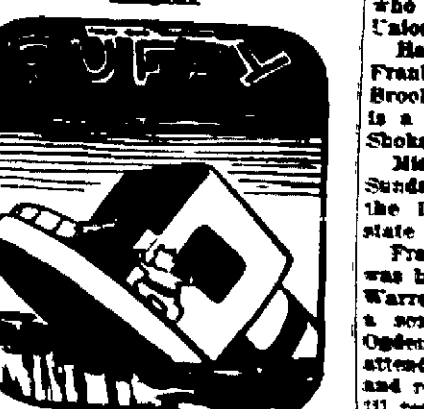

It is said that more than four thousand seven hundred miles of thread can be spun from a single pound of cotton. That's nothing. We know some political stump speakers hereabout who can spin four thousand seven hundred miles of baloney out of a pound of logic.

Taxes.
Man wants but little here below: He's ready to admit it. If Uncle Sam keeps taxing him He's pretty sure to get it.

"Every time you see a pretty girl you forget you are married," said a woman querulously to her insignificant spouse. "You're wrong, my dear," he whined, "nothing brings home the fact more forcibly," as he started to run.

Future of Heimwehr.
Vienna, April 22 (AP)—The future of the Heimwehr, private army of Vice Chancellor Ernst von Starheimberg, was believed today to lie in a conference of Heimwehr leaders to be held next week-end. Dissolution of the Heimwehr is being demanded in some influential quarters following the example of Chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg, who is demilitarizing Austria to continue merely as religious or cultural organizations.

He had all about them in court and camp. It's fast drawing dark and they haven't a lamp. "You what is the racket?" says Puff to his friend. "I'll try to find out where there's a party tonight."

SCHNOZZLE AND BARBARA ARE BECOMING FRIENDS ALREADY.

THAT DOESN'T ANSWER MY QUESTION—WHERE IS HE TO SLEEP?

GEORGE SAID TO KEEP HIM INDOORS AT FIRST—AS HE MIGHT GET LONESOME OUTSIDE AND HOWL ALL NIGHT.

WELL HE'S NOT GOING TO HAVE THE RUN OF THE HOUSE—I WOULDN'T FEEL SAFE.

IF WE LOCK HIM IN ONE ROOM HE MIGHT TEAR THINGS-UP TRYING TO GET OUT.

THAT'S YOUR PROBLEM... I'M GOING TO BED.

SHOKAN

Shokan, April 21—James A. Hartvig and children returned to New York Saturday after a week's sojourn at their summer home on the north boulevard. Mr. Hartvig spent a considerable part of his vacation in fishing and was successful in catching a 14-inch trout together with a number of smaller ones. Mr. and Mrs. Hartvig conduct a flourishing flower pack business of national scope from Fulton Market, New York City.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Vandenberg of Mt. Vernon are spending a week at the home of Mrs. Vandenberg's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Ganter, of the old state road. Mr. Vandenberg is making a try for the trout in the Esopus creek and other streams up the valley.

Guests at the Denis T. Lynch homestead recently included Father William Albert of New York and Miss Cora Maycock of Canada.

Local farmers are mending fences, picking stone, getting out barnyard fertilizer and getting done a number of other jobs which come on at this time of the year. The ground is still too wet for plowing but this is a matter of minor concern here as the farms in this section grow very little truck crops for market. Corn, potatoes and oats are to staples with a comparatively small acreage of buckwheat and rye.

John Nodine of the reservoir maintenance force motored to New York Sunday for a day's visit in the city.

The variety supper held in the Shokan Reformed Church basement Friday evening by the Ladies' Aid Society of the church was attended by 60 persons. The usual tasty and substantial tables were served by the ladies. The chairman of the kitchen committee being Mrs. William Tueling.

Miss Edna Mae Hamilton of Kingston spent a few days last week at the home of her grandmother, Mrs. Julia Hogan.

Matthews & North shipped 250,000 hoops last week.

Delaney Matthews is about to close up business after 43 years of storekeeping here.

The Krumville baseball game on the 16th resulted in a 2-5 victory for the local boys. Spectacular battery work of Krum and Lyons featured the game. Players were: J. Trowbridge, G. Regan, Chester Lyons, H. Krum, V. Quick, Arthur Christiansen, A. Stern, C. Christiansen and Arthur Trowbridge.

Events Around The Empire State

Penn Yan, N. Y., April 22 (AP)—Barbara Beaumont, 8, and Lucille Ogden, 10, entered the lists of publishers today with their Clinton Street News, a four-page publication printed with real news type. Their first edition provided $3.65 for the Red Cross food relief and subsequent editions will aid other Red Cross activities, they said.

They aspire to national circulation and have received one subscription from Pasadena, Cal. Neighbors, relatives, friends and even the youth editors themselves appear in the news, since they have "give up tap dancing for good."

One item declared that "Judy Ogden gave up her thumb for lent, but she broke it (not her thumb, but the resolution) the first night." Another related that Pepper, dog of one of the editors, was sent home from school "because he barked at the music teacher."

New York, April 22 (AP)—The New York state conference on marriage and the family here June 5 and 6 will hear an address by Governor Lehman, Chairman Sidney E. Goldstein said today. He said the governor will speak the opening night on "the responsibility of the state in the matter of marriage and family life." Various educators and religious leaders are on the speakers' list.

Albany, N. Y., April 22 (AP)—Alcoholic beverage tax collections amount to $15,955,358 for the first nine months of the current fiscal year, State Tax Commissioner Mark Graves reported today. Graves said that was a gain of $2,678,892 over last year. January collections of $2,246,892 were the largest of any single month since repeal of prohibition, he added.

Miners Return To Work.
Madrid, April 22 (AP)—Miners throughout the province of Huelva returned to work today, ending a 24-hour strike. Their return ended also a threat of a general strike.

The miners accepted an offer of employers to pay a proportional indemnity to men discharged for lack of work. The strike was conducted peacefully.

Farm and Home Bureaus

Clintonville, April 20—The regular meeting of the local unit of the Ulster County Home Bureau was held in Haebrouck Memorial Hall when the annual election of officers was held. The nominating committee consisting of Mrs. William Barrett, Mrs. Frank Black and Mrs. George Aikens entered the names of Mrs. Winfield Jenkins for chairman and Mrs. Roy Dubois as vice-chairman and as no other names were entered they were unanimously elected.

Mrs. Eber Coy was re-elected secretary and Mrs. Ira Hyatt was re-elected treasurer with no opposition. Mrs. Orville Seymour was elected secretary and Mrs. Everett Parsons, Demonstration Agent for Ulster county was present and took charge of the meeting when "Home Management" was discussed. A paper with a suggested list of subjects which may be admitted to the projects for the coming year were passed out among the fourteen members present and each one wrote the subject which would interest them most for the new year. Under the topic "Feeding the Family" the following items appeared: Balanced meals served regularly, busy buying of food, planning of food for menu making, saving food preparation and serving, planning of meals some time in advance, planning and maintaining a reserve skill, efficient and economical preparation of food, efficient and attractive serving of meals, attractive table setting that reduces expenditures, labor and time, planning for help of family members with all that implies in satisfactory relationship within the family, arrangement of work centers for convenience and efficiency with the minimum of cost, selection of dishes, towels, kitchen equipment, wall and floor coverings, curtains, etc.

The next topic "Clothing the Family" included planning and selection of each individual's clothing, practical, comfortable as well as attractive, to supplement what is on hand, construction and remodeling of garments when the material is worth while. Also the care of the clothing, the cleaning, pressing and storage of garments. It is well to plan a sewing center where everything may be divided out, considering the individual need for clothing to make him at ease with his selection.

Under "Household Management" the selection of sheets, towels, blankets, springs and mattresses, care and selection of these articles and also the selection, arrangement and care of the furniture for the family use and comfort as well as the design and color as it applies to the room in which it is used. The best ing and lighting also ventilation are also essential for the comfort of the members of the family. The budgeting of time and money for the efficient use of these resources, landscaping the home and farm grounds, planning of work centers and play centers and also the placing of a children's play room, where toys may be kept.

The laundry section included the wise and economical selection of cleaning agents, soaps, powders, the selection and uses of washing machines, irons, ironing boards, covers, pads, and the planning of other activities to allow time for the proper laundering.

Liquidation of the National Surety Co.

L. H. Pink, superintendent of insurance of the state of New York as liquidator of the National Surety Company has given notice that he has filed a petition and first preliminary report in the matter of the liquidation of the National Surety Company.

The report contains a statement of all claims which the liquidator has recommended for disallowance. It does not contain a statement of claims which the liquidator will recommend for allowance, nor of claims in the proceedings which have yet to be determined.

The petition and preliminary report will be presented to the Supreme court, special term, Part 1, to be held at the county court house in the Borough of Manhattan, on April 20, 1936, at 10 a. m. and an application made for an order approving the recommendations of disallowance.

Objections to the report must be in writing and must be filed with the clerk of New York county on or before noon on April 27.

This action is connected with the old case involving 35 laborers unpaid on Wagner and Braun contract in Saugerties village. The case of Fomire vs. National Surety Co. (229 N. Y. 44) was a test case.

KRUMVILLE.

Krumville, April 22.—Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Curs, who formerly lived on the farm of the late Clarence Donohue, have moved to the Kenosha Lake club house at Ashokan.

The auction held at the home of Mrs. Florence Donohue was well attended. Mrs. Donohue has moved in the old Davis home, formerly owned by her brother, the late Elmer H. Davis.

Mr. and Mrs. Ford Weeks, Jr., returned home from their honeymoon trip to Washington, D. C., and are receiving congratulations from a host of friends. They will make their home in Krumville for the present.

Mr. and Mrs. George Youngs and family have moved to Allgerville in the bungalow of Mr. Glaise.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Donohue of Kingston called at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jervis Burgher and family Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin O. Davis have bought a place in Hurley and moved in the first of the week. Their friends regret their leaving as they have been residents of this place for the last 25 years. All their friends wish them much happiness in their new home.

Walter Wright of Lomontville was a caller in this place Sunday.

The Olive assessors, Homer Marle and Martin J. Avery, were in this place Wednesday.

School reopened Monday after being closed to the Easter vacation. Miss Margaret Schoonmaker of Stone Ridge is the teacher.

Charles Thompson is seriously ill at the home of his sister, Mrs. Mary Marshall, at Sheldon Hill. His many friends hope for a speedy recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Avery of Accord called at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Donohue Saturday evening.

Services will be held in the Reformed Church Sunday, April 26. The Rev. Harry Christiana of St. Johnsville will bring the message.

Mrs. Florence Donohue and daughter, Mrs. Ford Weeks, Jr., and Clyde Davis made a business trip to Kingston Monday.

Mrs. Jennie Beesmer, who has been spending a few days with her son, Aea Beesmer, at Hurley, has returned home.

There are more Davises in the Livingston, Tenn., telephone directory than all the Smiths, Joneses, Browns and Johnsons.

Wurts Street Baptist Club Elects Officers

The Men's Club of the Wurts Street Baptist Church held their annual meeting and supper at the chapel Tuesday night. Following prayer by the pastor, the Rev. Clarence E. Brown, the meeting was called to order by Albert R. May, the efficient president for the past year. He stated that the first business was the election of officers for the coming year. A nominating committee appointed last month by the Club Council, presented a tentative slate which had been adopted at a meeting held at the home of George Garrison. Following a lively discussion, additional nominations were made from the floor.

The voting resulted in the following officers being named: Charles Neatell, president; Lester Locke, vice-president; Thomas Neale, secretary-treasurer; James C. Legg, publicity director. The new president asked the hearty cooperation of the members in making the coming year a successful one for the club.

Other business included reports from the officers for the past year, which were approved, also those of the several committee heads. They showed the club to be in a fine condition, financially and socially. Plans for the coming year include an outing in June, in which the ladies will join, to be held at some convenient recreation resort in the mountains, with softball, baseball and other sports, followed by refreshments.

One of the most successful meetings the club has held was brought to a close with the service of a fine supper and a social hour.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ennist and daughter spent a few days in Grand Gorge.

Pity Poor Pooches

Miami, Fla., April 22 (AP).—Pity the poor pooches in sunny Miami. The local dog catcher's wagon soon is to be equipped with a radio such as police cars use in order to expedite capture of stray canines.

Toys dealing with war and defense of the law, formerly so dear to small boys, were in a dejected minority at the 1936 Toy Fair in New York. Predominant were toys copying adult space-time pursuits in science, industry and art. Little Roy De Franchello is shown acting as traffic cop in the Fair's toy "city of the future." ## Fruits to Plant for Roadside Stand Sale

Geneva, N. Y., April 22.—A selection of tree fruits, grapes, and small fruits that will find most ready sale at roadside stands and arranged in order of their ripening so as to provide a supply of choice fruit throughout the season from the first appearance of sweet cherries early in June until the close of the season in the fall, is presented in a publication now available at the Experiment Station here under the title of "Fruits for Roadside Markets." A copy of the list may be obtained upon request to the station.

The list holds special interest for the consumer as well as the fruit grower as a guide to the best varieties of the different fruits in season at different times of the year and which he should demand in making purchases at roadside stands. Brief descriptions of each variety give a hint to the qualities that appeal particularly to the consumer and enable one to buy fruit much more intelligently. Consumers are urged by the station fruit specialists to seek out growers who can supply their demands for these superior varieties.

Divided Into Bi-monthly Periods

Time of ripening is the chief consideration in arranging the list of varieties. Obviously, it is not possible to give exact ripening dates for every variety as these dates will vary from year to year. The season is that assigned to the variety after extensive tests on the Experiment Station grounds. There may be wide differences in season for different sections of the state, varying as much as two to three weeks between Long Island and the northern Champlain region. Knowing the ripening time of a few standard varieties of the different fruits for a given section of the state, it is comparatively easy to compute the probable ripening dates for other varieties for that locality.

The station list is divided into bi-monthly periods beginning with the period of June 1 to 15 when the first sweet cherries come on the market. The season is then continued by successive stages until autumn with the names of the choicest of the tree fruits, grapes, and small fruits that thrive in New York state.

Hughes Set Record.

New York, April 22 (AP).—Howard Hughes, motion picture producer, oil man and now holder of three national air speed records, confessed today to a bit of forgetfulness.

A lapse, however, which did not interfere with his setting a new Miami-New York air record. Late yesterday, he brought his silver low-wing monoplane down to Floyd Bennett Field just four hours, 21 minutes and 32 seconds after leaving Miami, Fla., to establish the first official speed record for the 1,134 miles from south to north. He flew high but he didn't and he couldn't have had extra oxygen if he had wanted it—without landing. "The truth of the matter is I forgot to turn on my tank before taking off," he grinned.

MODENA

Modena, April 21.—The card party held Friday evening in the Harbrough Memorial Hall, under the auspices of the Modena unit of the Home Bureau was well attended. Mrs. Eber Coy won first prize in pinocle, Mrs. Ira Hyatt and Myron Shultis, in dominoes. Refreshments of sandwiches, cake and coffee were served by committee in charge. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Werner Pasberg, Mr. and Mrs. Parker Hull, Mr. and Mrs. Winfield Jenkins, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Corvett, Mrs. Edna Young, of Clintondale; Mr. and Mrs. Eber Coy, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Paltridge, Mrs. Eber Palmer and son, Charles, Mrs. Ira Hyatt, Miss Emma Palmer of Ardona; Mr. and Mrs. Orville Seymour, Mrs. Roy DuBois, Mrs. William Doolittle, Joseph and Wilfred Doolittle, Mr. and Mrs. Wygant Courter, Sr., and guest, Carl Paltridge, Bruce Conklin, Harry Denton, Mr. and Mrs. Myron Shultis, Miss Glennie Wager, Mrs. Lester Wager, Mrs. Frank Black, of Modena; Mrs. H. Anderson and daughter, of Gardiner; Mrs. Myron Coons and Mrs. Albert Butler of Plattkill; Mrs. Elsie Leight, guest of Mrs. Hyatt.

Mrs. Orville Seymour, accompanied by Mrs. Anna O'Neill and daughter, of Gardiner, were recent visitors in Kingston. Mrs. A. D. Wager, Mrs. Beale Gerow, Mrs. Ransel Wager and Miss Glennie Wager spent Thursday afternoon in Newburgh.

Mrs. Robert Every, Mrs. Percy Crowell, the Misses Helen Every, Elsie and Florence B. Crowell were visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Myron L. Shultis, Thursday afternoon.

The WORLD of STAMPS

By QUINTON JAMES

Inscribed "for the national library and archives," two values of an issue which the congress of the Dominion republic in its act creating the set outlined to contain 13 denominations, have made their appearance in philatelic circles.

As provided in the act, the range would be from 1/2-centavo to $2. The two items received are 3 and 7 centavos. The 1/2-centavo bears the portrait of President R. L. Trujillo, while the 7-centavo grayish blue is Gen. Antonio Duvergé.

It is the understanding of collecting experts that all money coming from the stamps, to be sold through the usual sources, will be used to build up a fund in the national treasury for the erection of a national library and archives building.

This information would tend to indicate that the stamps, while available for regular postage, would be used primarily as a means of collecting the library fund. Thus they differ to a certain extent from semi-postals, where a certain fixed sum above the amount to pay postage goes for varied purposes.

Sheet For Tixex

Makeup of the special sheet of stamps for Tixex—Third International Philatelic exposition in New York next month—has been determined. As previously indicated it will contain four commemorative stamps from recent issues, each with a three-cent face. The total value of the sheet will be 12 cents.

The stamps to be used are the Texas, the Connecticut, the Michigan and the San Diego exposition. The sheet will be imperforate, but will be gummed. Around the border will be this inscription: "Printed by the treasury department, bureau of engraving and printing, under authority of James A. Farley, postmaster general, in compliance to the Third International Philatelic exposition of 1936, New York, N. Y., May 9-17, 1936, plate number 21,557."

The sheet, colored purple, will go on first day sale at the opening of the exposition, where the postoffice department will have a branch.

More In Press Issue

Spain's group of regular postage stamps marking the fortieth anniversary of the Press Association of Madrid has been augmented by 15 airmail denominations.

This increases the issue total to 31 items. The airmails, like the regular postage, are made up of photographs and designs significant of the newspaper. Besides, some include an airplane in flight over Madrid. Others show an autogyro. Four have an eagle and a number of newspapers. The fourth group, the three highest values, show Don Quixote and his squire riding a wooden horse into the sky as they leave Madrid.

The set ranges from 1-centavo to 10-pesetas, containing the usual intermediate denominations.

NEW PALTZ

New Palitz, April 21.—The churches in New Palitz observed Easter in a very fine way the Methodist and Reformed united with churches in the vicinity at a sunrise service on the Minnewaska trail after which a breakfast was held in each church. At the morning service in the Methodist Church, Miss Margaret Newton played the organ prelude. Special music consisted of singing "Christ the Lord is Risen Today," "Come Ye Faithful, raise the strain" and "Hymn of Joy" with words for Easter. "Sing with all the sons of glory," an anthem, Senior choir. "Christ Our Passover," an anthem, Junior choir. "Light of Easter." Three baptisms were: Alvin Martine, Alice Harold and John Gardner. The Rev. Alfred H. Coon, pastor, preached from the subject "The Living God." There was a special Epworth League service and the pastors evening sermon subject was: "The Emmaus Way." The church Auditorium throughout the service was lovely with lilacs and ferns presented from people and organizations of the church. In the Dutch Reformed Church the lilacs were contributed by Harold Allen in memory of his parents, the Rev. and Mrs. Frank Allen and the cut lilacs were from Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Goetichius, who are in Bermuda. The Rev. Gerret Wulfschleger's sermon subject was: "Across the Threshold." There was also special music and singing of old hymns. In the St. Andrew's Episcopal Church special music was rendered and the Rev. Alexander A. Fries preached a very fine sermon. There were also beautiful flowers on the altar as were in St. Joseph's Church. Some of the music rendered was: Ave Maria as offertory, Vespers during communion, O Salutaris, and The Holy City as recessional. Mrs. Stephen O'Brien was organist, and the Rev. Chris-

PICNIC FORMULA

Picnics are a delightful diversion. We might qualify this generalization by limiting our enthusiasm to picnics held in the spring, since we must admit that when the flying and crawling pests reach their full summer voracity, they take the fun out of this pastime. An appetite, engendered by a ride to location through a countryside resplendent in spring sunshine and verdant foliage, will fully appreciate the concoctions that come under the heading of a picnic lunch. You needn't remind us that our province is clothes; we're coming right to the point. Though we concede their right to such an opinion, we do not concur with those who hold that a straight jacket is the only appropriate outfit for picnickers. We've shown here the details of an outfit that fits into any countryside setting, irrespective of your picnicking proclivities.

A brown leather jacket, in the essence of comfort and practicality, the model shown has the two cap, but a thicker front with leather sole and heel.

The omnipresent grey flannel shirt returns its uncontented position as the traveler for all countrymen outfits. It's favored in a medium light grey shade.

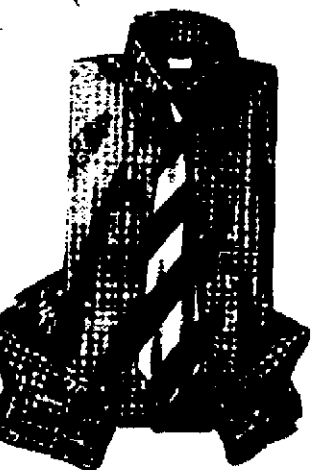

Fashion approves the simple, free-swinging, half-belted, back model for sports jackets in checked and plaided textures and Saxony-type collars.

A sport shirt for leisurely strolling that combines the elements of two useful sport garments, with its chambray front and buttoned sleeves and back.

Button-down collar shirt, the next and most abundant enough for the countryman fit. With the checked shirt, an even more open, with soft tie, is suggested.

A light-colored shirt, but with modified lines of the sport shirt, rather than the gold stuff.

Chapter One

BROKEN ENGAGEMENT

HERE had never been a woman in the house as long as Dirk could remember. Just he, his brother Rupert, and their father. And now, just he and Rupert. Unless, of course, you called Mary, the housekeeper, a woman. In Dirk's rather hazy opinion, Mary was a voice, a black apron, and a bunch of keys. And naturally there were housemaids and laundresses, and twenty or so years ago there had been Dirk's nurse-maids, Genevieve in particular. But there had been no woman in command of this unobtrusive processional.

However, there would be a woman now. Lowrie Wood, with its great stone castle that had overlooked the Hudson from the gloom of oaks and hedged gardens for more than a hundred years, was to have a mistress again. Elinor Fleming's mother had gone at last, and Elinor was due to marry Rupert to whom she had been engaged for six years.

Dirk was glad. Elinor had always seemed to belong to Lowrie. Every fortnight or so she dined there, moving with a fitting queenliness through the beautiful vaulted rooms, or sitting opposite Rupert at the long Flemish table, with the portraits of dead and gone Jorises watching them from the wall. She sat there tonight. Old Tim-mother, associated its fragrance and vividness solely with Elinor.

A corsage of violets and small white roses was at her waist tonight. One of the roses she had pinned on the lapel of Dirk's white flannel coat. "Be nice to Isabel," she had said. Isabel was her cousin whom Dirk was taking later to a dance.

Dirk, glancing now at Elinor, saw her straighten slightly in her chair.

"I am going to marry Gage Seymour," Elinor said.

only who had been with the family since the days of Dirk's grandfather, had seemed to divine that there was something special in the occasion. The tall silver epergne in the center of the table, freighted with tangerines and black Ribier grapes, glistened as if with recent polishing. There were fresh candles in the ancient candelabra on either side, and a bit more crystal, a bit more silver than usual on the lustrous old damask cloth.

Rupert was thirty-four, five years older than Elinor, handsome in a swarthy, somewhat heavy way. Silent, darkly flushed, he sat twisting the stem of his wine-glass, watching the red burgundy sparkle, savoring the glass, now and then glancing at Elinor. He was waiting. It seemed to Dirk. Watching Elinor, and waiting.

No one would have suspected that the men were brothers. Dirk, ten years younger, chestnut-haired, blue-eyed, brown from polo and tennis and motor racing, was a different race. He was disturbed by Rupert's behavior. It was the way Rupert had acted the day the stock-market went down—and down. That was a month before their father had died—their father who had held that a lawyer should never touch the market. Since then Rupert had been different. But Elinor would change all that.

Dirk, sustaining the conversation as best he could, glanced now and then at Elinor. Her face in the candlelight looked pale under the smooth texture of ash-blond hair. Over her white gown she wore the same red Chinese shawl that had belonged to Rupert's and Dirk's mother. The house was cold, though summer was not entirely gone. It was always a little drafty, a little cold.

They realized this when Elinor came, and so they kept the shawl in the drawing-room to lay about her shoulders. It smelted of the mandarin cabinet in which it stayed, and Dirk who could not remember his and become, if anything, a little paler. She waited until Timothy had left the room, and then she said in a low voice, but distinctly.

"We may as well have it out now. Rupert, I'm not staying after dinner."

Dirk made a slight movement toward departure, and she turned to him.

"Please don't go, Dirk. I want you to hear what I have to say. And I want you to take me home afterward."

Rupert, who had not stirred, looked up. His fingers still twisted the stem of the glass. His large head with its shock of dark hair was lowered and slightly turned away, but his eyes rested on Elinor. Dirk thought again of the day Rupert had watched the ticker. Watched it as it went down. Rupert said in his low, rather pleasant voice.

"Dirk, take you home?"

"I won't ride with you when you've been drinking," Elinor answered. "You know that."

She spoke quietly but Dirk had a feeling that she would not be so candid where he was present. She wanted him present that she might speak freely, and she wanted to speak freely now, with the long table between them—here, rather than in her own home. ("Be there at dinner, Dirk, dear," she had said. "Isabel and the others can wait.")

Dirk was aware that he had caught Rupert's uneasiness. Elinor said, apparently undisturbed by the slight and bitter smile that had been Rupert's only answer.

"I waited as Mother asked me to. She knew she was going to die, and she asked me to wait to stay beside her. Six years I waited."

Rupert answered, still with the slight smile.

"But I will not wait," she went on. "For you to stop drinking."

"Does that imply," inquired Rupert, "that you will marry me at once?"

She affected to ignore the pleas-

"I am not a reformer," she said. "I've told you before that I have no illusions along those lines. These two years have been wretched enough to show me what it might be—afterward. If you don't stop now, you wouldn't stop then. I've lost hope. It's just as your father said. It is, Dirk, who will carry on the name."

Rupert laughed. His dark glance moved to Dirk.

"Good old name!" he said.

DIRK thought hotly. "She's wrong. Rupert can do anything with a jury. Father always said so."

Memories of Rupert's pleadings came to him. Rupert, keen-witted, magnetic, coldly arraying his evidence.

"Father was right, about Rupert's losses," Dirk thought, "when he said that."

"Oh, as to the name," Elinor considered. "It goes of its own momentum. You inherited it along with your father's practice. Many people don't even stop to realize that the old firm of Jorise no longer includes him, and is just you and Dirk and your cousin Sanford. Even so, going at the rate you are, it won't take long to undermine it."

"Are you forgetting," asked Rupert, "that Dirk—to say nothing of Sanford, who is a Jorise, too—will be here to repair the ravages of my pickshovel, or my dynamite, or whatever it is one uses to undermine old names?"

"In your case," said Elinor, "it's gin."

"Brandy, please," he corrected. "Be just, if not merciful."

"Does it matter? In any case, you've destroyed my hope in you, and my faith."

Hard that they two had been doomed to draw toward each other. Dirk thought now. Many girls would have found no objection to Rupert's drinking, and there were members of his own sex who accorded his talents in that direction as envious respect.

Elinor came of dignified, rather conventional people. Her grandfather was a bishop, and she herself had always seemed to Dirk like some figure from a stained-glass window. Strange that she should have stepped down from her violet niche to accept the earthy, fana-like Rupert, erratic even before he had begun his heavier drinking.

Somewhere back in the family there had been a Croon Jorise who was a little mad. How else could they explain the violent and outrageous things he did? His portrait by Jan Steen—a rare thing—hung now above Elinor's head, like a sword of Damocles.

Dirk could not account for the comparison moving so darkly through his mind, except that the portrait might have been of Rupert, dressed in seventeenth-century armor and cape.

He came back with a start. Elinor had said something more. She had said something in a voice that held no trace of drinking. The words were still vibrating in the room.

"I am going to marry Gage Seymour," she had said, and the stem of Rupert's wine-glass had snapped in his fingers. The bowl of the glass had toppled, rolled, lay in a red stain. Elinor seemed not to see.

CHICKEN DINNER at HOLY CROSS CHURCH

Comforter Men Ride Their Hobbies in the Second Annual Show

The second Hobby Show sponsored by the Church of the Comforter Men's Club was held Tuesday evening in the church hall with an audience of approximately 50 men from the combined Comforter and Fair Street Clubs.

The show was opened by Gordon A. Craig, who introduced Sidney Clapp as the speaker of the evening. Mr. Clapp has made numerous appearances at the Comforter Club, giving talks on stamps, bee-keeping and geology, and last night on "weather conditions." In his introduction, Mr. Craig mentioned Mr. Clapp as the "man of many hobbies," a title which seems very fitting when one listens to the fine talks on various subjects which Mr. Clapp has given. Mr. Clapp announced that he would just touch the "high spots" in his talk on weather conditions, and opened his discourse with a demonstration of the various instruments which are used to measure the velocity of wind and water. Of special interest was his description of measuring the amount of water in a watershed, one of the best methods being by means of a weir such as the one at Brown Station which is between 250 and 300 feet long and cost about $12,000 to construct. A recent measurement of the velocity of the stream in Woodland Valley at the height of the last flood, revealed that 50,000 cubic feet of water passed a given spot in one second and generated enough power to move 20-ton boulders.

The instrument used to find the velocity of the water in the smaller streams is called a Price-Meter, and Mr. Clapp pointed out that the water in one of these streams moves the fastest in the center of the course about a foot below the surface, with the average velocity being found at two-tenths and eight-tenths below the surface.

One member asked Mr. Clapp what he thought might happen if the Ashokan Dam were to burst. Replying to this question, the speaker pointed out that the dam was 30 times stronger than was necessary and that it was divided like an hourglass, so that if the impossible did occur and the dam should break, only one-half of the water would be freed and would probably amount to the same as a spring freshet. However, Mr. Clapp assured the audience that "they did not need to lose any sleep over the idea of the dam giving away, because nothing short of an earthquake would be considered enough force to cause a break."

At the conclusion of the address, there was an inspection of the various exhibits. Stamp collecting was represented by many excellent frames of adhesives exhibited by Gordon A. Craig, Jr., William S. Wood, Donald Wood and William Wood, Jr. Ship-modeling included several fine displays by Ray Nickerson and Robert Cresse. Aircraft had its part in the show with planes by Kachigian, Howard Nickerson and Donald Krum. Ralph Short had an interesting collection of photographs, cameras and oil paintings, with some fine etchings by Hugo Schroeder. A quarter-inch scale model of a spy house in Hurley where Daniel Taylor, a British spy of the Revolutionary War, was executed on October 18, 1777, was shown by Mark Pennington. Wood-turning was represented by lamps and fancy articles by Frank Elmendorf, Walter Tremper and Adam Matfice. Three inlaid game-boards, one containing 308 separate pieces, were made by Arthur Floyd, and showed many hours of tedious labor. C. L. Hyde had a travel map and some geology specimens on display, while Charles O. Kelse sported a lamp made from a highly polished eider-egg.

Herbie Myers and Joseph Flowers displayed some fine game chickens and also a rare golden pheasant which attracted considerable attention, and at times made the hall sound like a country barnyard in the early morning. Henry Highway again showed quite a number of photographs of the old Ulster and Delaware Railroad, and used for a background a section of track with a U. & D. passenger train consisting of a model of engine number 85, and old curved roof baggage car of the 60 series and an open-platform coach of the period of 1900. He also had a model of a tank car and a 4-wheeled caboose.

An interesting bit of information brought to light a new use for newspapers, when Ray Nickerson revealed that the representation of water models was made from ground-up bits of a newspaper mixed into a pulp solution and pointed to look like water.

The hobby show proved a decidedly successful venture under the direction of Ray Nickerson, who says that "he was surprised to find the number of men who are interested in some sort of a hobby which no one ever knows about until a show of this kind brings the handwork to public view."

Studebaker sales of passenger cars and trucks in the first 10 days of April increased 56 per cent over the corresponding period of 1935, according to President Paul G. Hornman.

To further raise the standards of service offered America's motoring millions, a nationwide technical school for service men, with their own shops as classrooms and "talkie" screens for blackboards, was announced this week. In preparation for record travel on American highways this summer, the new plan launched by the Plymouth Division of the Chrysler Corporation is designed to carry into dealers' repair shops new technical information developed by factory experts. Written examinations will be conducted by factory representatives on each of the meetings held with the sound slide films which compose the special training course. Each dealer will be responsible for showing the sound slide films to his mechanics and preparing them for the examinations.

Kingston College Women's Club Met

The Kingston College Women's Club held its regular April meeting Tuesday evening at Mrs. Finch's Tea Room, when an appreciative audience gathered to hear James Scott, Elverhoj artist, demonstrate "The Making of a Painting". Mr. Scott accompanied his painting of a landscape with explanations that gave his listeners a clear insight into a subject in which everyone has a natural interest but one concerning which the average person has small opportunity for learning anything at all of the technical intricacies.

The artist began by showing the audience a small sketch of the landscape which he intended to paint. The scene was one which he had drawn near Milton, of the Hudson and the distant hills with a sweeping elm and small clump of younger trees in the foreground. Mr. Scott then sketched the scene on his canvas in charcoal, explaining carefully just how the picture was built and the rhythm of line in the trees, hills, clouds and river banks in their relationship to other spacing. He also demonstrated how essential it was to get the shapes and sizes well arranged in a sketch. Next the artist laid on the pigment, explaining the reason for each move and just how each part was contributing to the building up of the whole. Although all the finer shading remained to be worked out, the audience had little difficulty in seeing the frame-work of a beautiful spring landscape at the conclusion of Mr. Scott's demonstration. It was also a lecture lesson in painting that will help all who heard it observe any picture with a better understanding of the objective that the artist had in painting it.

Preceding the lecture there was a business meeting at which four new members were accepted into the club, Miss Dorothy DuMont, a graduate of Mt. Holyoke College with an A. B. degree; Mrs. George Robinson, with a B. S. degree from Skidmore College; Miss Helen Gronoweyer, B. S. degree, Russell Sage College, and Miss Georgina Hochkiss, A. B. degree, Radcliffe and Vassar Colleges. Announcement was also made of two group meetings, the Music Study Group which will meet Monday evening, April 27, at the home of the Misses Jane and Ethel Matherbrook, Home street, and the Book Discussion Group which will meet with Miss Marion Healy, Henry street. Miss Noone announced that the books for discussion would be "Exile", "The House in Paris", and "Thinking Bread".

The gathering also enjoyed a delightful social hour at which refreshments were served. The hostesses for the evening were: Mrs. Gerard Betz, chairman; Mrs. Hamilton Boyd, Mrs. William Hasbrouck, Mrs. Hubert Hoderath, Mrs. William Murray, Mrs. H. J. Schroeder, Mrs. J. Richard Shultz, Miss Agnes Scott Smith, Mrs. John Steketee, Miss Madeline Tarrant, Mrs. Myron Teller and Mrs. Gerret Wullichleger.

The next meeting will be held at the regular time, Tuesday, May 12, when the Book Discussion Group will review "Some Recent Books" for the club.

Girl Reserve Circus Saturday Afternoon

Many attractive specialty numbers have been arranged for the annual Girl Reserve Circus of the Y. W. C. A., which will be held Saturday afternoon at 2:30 in the Municipal Auditorium. The entire program will take place on the stage and with the service of the microphone, everyone will be able to both see and hear.

Only one act will bring in the old favorite circus stunts, and the remainder of the program will be a series of spectacular dances and drills, showing glimpses of favorite books from the "Book Shop" shown in the opening scene. All dances are being directed by Miss Riccobono, who has so successfully staged the annual "Y" circus, and the cast includes more than 250 girls of the Y. W. C. A. clubs.

One of the most attractive acts will be "The Woman in the Shoe" with Miss Dorothea Groves as the "woman" and 30 Blue Bird children taking part. The shoe is in a garden setting, but even the "fence" come to life in a drill, the flowers doing a pretty ballet, butterflies and bees flitting about, doing pretty song and dance numbers with Winifred Kimball as soloist.

A most peppy number will be "Harlem Nights" presented by the Cheerio Club girls with Mae Tate doing a solo tap, and another specialty number, "Trunkin'" given by Elvora Brodhead, Marjory Morton, Hazel Morton, Jeanette Ray.

The Tri Hi girls are having a very pretty act, "In a Chinese Garden" with Miss Dorothea Groves singing the solo, while their fencing drill of 30 girls in the final scene is one of the outstanding events of the show.

Other specialty numbers will be given by Misses Ruth Britt, Mathilda Carter, Betty Entratt, Mabel Brower, Rose Ward, Marion Bartlett, Mildred Reed, and the whole entertainment promises "bigger and better" than ever with people into 14 "books". Tickets may be secured from members of the cast or at the Y. W. C. A., or at the door.

Republican Card Party
A public card party will be held Thursday evening by the 5th Ward Republican Club in its rooms, 106 McClinton street. Bridge and pinocle will be played.

Card of Thanks.
We wish to express our thanks to our many friends and neighbors for the kindness shown in the kindness and death of our mother, Ellen Van Dyke, also for the beautiful floral tributes.

CONFESSED SLAYER VIEWS CRIME SCENE

SUSPECT QUIZZED AT SCENE OF TRAGEDY

WHERE CONFESSED SLAYER WORKED

John Florenza, a paroled convict, who police said confessed the slaying of Mrs. Nancy Evans Titterton, was employed as helper in the east side store in which Mrs. Titterton's hands were bound before she was slain. The cord was the only clue found in the Titterton's Beckman Place apartment, the scene of the murder. (Associated Press Photo.)

District School Officials Elected

Ralph H. Johnson of New Paltz was re-elected District Superintendent of Schools from the Second Supervisory District Tuesday at a meeting of the School Directors of that district held in New Paltz. There were twelve votes cast on the first ballot and Mr. Johnson received ten. John Gaffney of Highland received one and Travis Gillette of Port Jervis received one.

The Second Supervisory District consists of the towns of Poughkeepsie, Gardiner, Lloyd, Marlborough, New Paltz, Plattekill and Shawangunk. Clarence Johnson of Glaser, who has been principal of the public school for the past several years, was elected District Superintendent of Schools in the First Supervisory District which includes the towns of Hurley, Kingston, Rosendale, Saugerties and Tivoli. S. Burnett who declined reelection and who is retiring after years of very efficient service in that district, which she served after having prior to that been Superintendent of the Second District. In the Third District there remained a tie between J. Hartley Tanner of Accord and Lester Roosa of Stone Ridge. Several ballots were taken at the meeting held in Ellenville, each ballot resulting in a tie. Mr. Tanner is the present incumbent. When it was evident after a recess that no decision could be reached the meeting adjourned until May 4. On the first ballot Principal Cross of the Kerhonkson School received one vote. In the Fourth District, that of J. Wallace Andrews no election was held.

A. M. E. Zion Annual Fair
The Franklin Street A. M. E. Zion Church will hold its annual fair on April 29 and 30, and May 1. The committee in charge are Mesdames Anna Van Dyke, Sarah J. Tour, Virginia Mitchell and Miss Anna Van Der Zee. There will be a program each night and a special supper on Thursday night. The Art and Social Club will have the fancy work table, the trustees are: Mrs. J. J. Williams, Mrs. J. J. Williams, The Ladies Aid, cake and pastry. The Missionary, Aaron, Mrs. Simpson the fruit table. The public is invited.

Mrs. Hauptmann Goes To Germany in June

New York, April 22 (AP)—Mrs. Anna Hauptmann is going back to Germany late in June, she said today.

"But," she added, "I shall return again to America to haunt some people in New Jersey until the Lindbergh kidnaping is cleared up."

She has been an American citizen, she said, for "quite some years."

Mrs. Hauptmann gave as one of the reasons for delaying her departure a desire to answer as many as possible of the letters of sympathy that have come to her $38-a-month Bronx apartment.

"How can I hope to thank all these people?" she asked, indicating a stack of mail. "In the last two days alone I received 400 letters. I hope they will understand."

"I have some telegrams wanting me to go on the stage, but for me the circus is over."

Mrs. Hauptmann lives alone with her 30-month-old son, Manfred. A large picture of Hauptmann draped in black crepe has been placed on a living room wall.

"I expect to have enough money to travel third-class to Germany and back," she said. "When I come here again I want to get any kind of work where my little baby can be with me. Maybe I can find some knitting work to do."

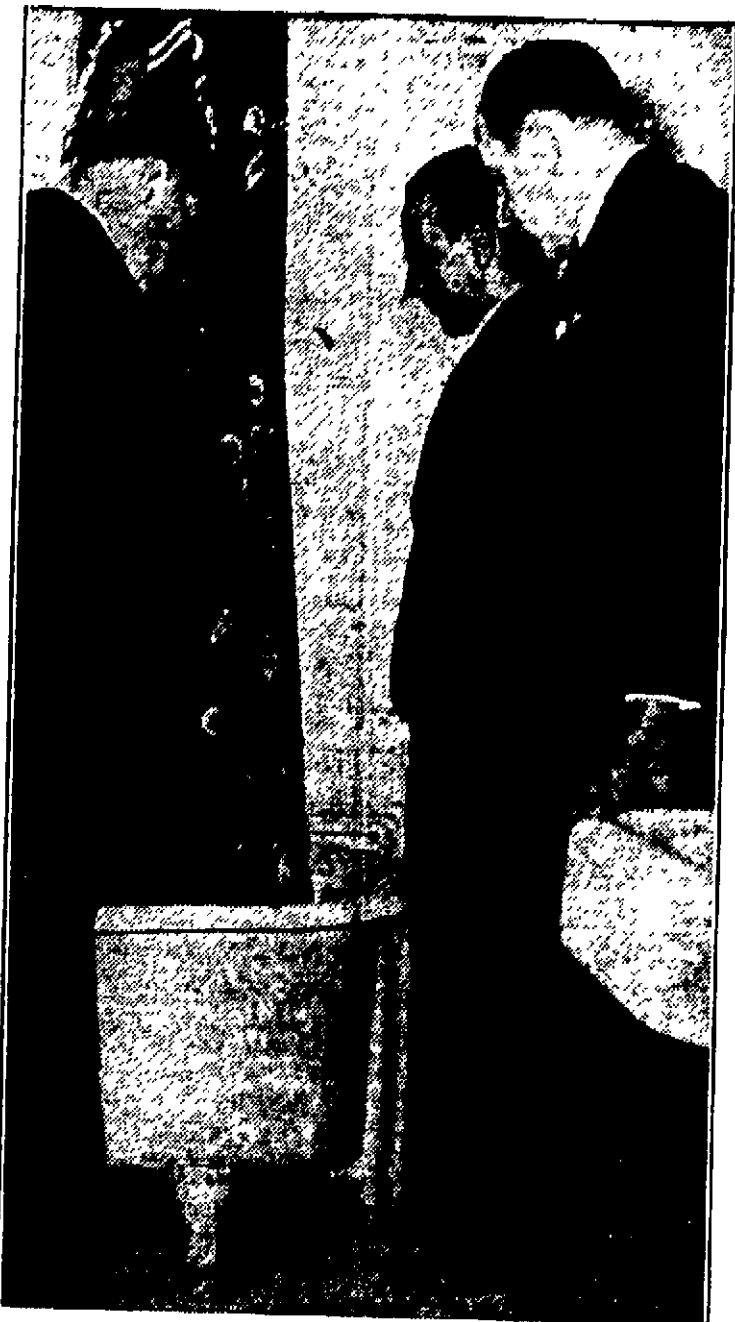

She said all her available assets and contributions, understood to be about $40,000, either went to the Hauptmann lawyers and investigators or were tied up in income tax proceedings.

Jury Selection in The Gonzalez Case

Nine jurors were in the box Tuesday afternoon when county court adjourned until this morning. Monday afternoon three jurors were selected for the trial of Pardo and "Red Rubio" Gonzalez and Joe Gonzalez and six more were added to the panel Tuesday. The selection will continue today. An extra panel of 15 jurors was summoned Tuesday by Sheriff Noyes when the original panel became exhausted. The two Gonzalez boys are charged with robbery, first degree, for an alleged stick-up at a Kerhonkson state road camp several years ago. After the stick-up the men disappeared and for months the authorities sought them. After a long chase the two were located in West Virginia and brought back to Ulster county to stand trial. There are others involved in the hold-up who have not yet been located.

Postmaster Examination
The U. S. Civil Service Commission, at the request of the Postmaster General, announces a competitive examination for Postmaster in the Phoenix, Arizona. Applications are to close May 3, 1936.

SLAYER INSPECTS BATHROOM

Negro Youth Placed On Probation Here

Stole $44 From Safe in Reis Brothers Gas Station on Washington Avenue—Sergeant Phinney Recovered Money and Arrested Youth

Frank DuBois, 16, negro youth of 240 Hurley avenue, was placed on probation this morning by Judge Culliton in police court when he was arraigned on a charge of petit larceny, and was ordered to report to Robert J. Service probation officer of Ulster county at the court house. The youth was informed by Judge Culliton that further disposition of the case would be based on reports received from the probation officer.

The negro was arrested yesterday by Sergeant Phinney after a report of the theft of $44 from the safe of the Reis Brothers gas station at Washington and Hurley avenues, had been made to the police department. The youth confessed and accompanied Sergeant Phinney to the old stone quarry opposite Forsyth Park, where he hid $35 of the stolen funds in the old steam roller. This was recovered, and the remaining $9 of the $44 stolen was also recovered.

Arthur Jackson, a negro of 59 Hasbrouck avenue, who was arrested Sunday on a charge of public intoxication, was found guilty of the charge following a hearing this morning, and was fined $5 by Judge Culliton.

Officers E. J. Leonard and Sammons, who made the arrest testified they had first noticed Jackson on Hasbrouck avenue and that he was staggering. Officer Leonard said that in reply to questions Jackson said he got his drinks in Dinty Moore's place. Jackson in his own behalf denied that he was staggering on the sidewalk and said he was on his way home at the time of his arrest. He said he had been in Dinty Moore's for an hour but had nothing to drink and had gone there to talk with a friend named Wade.

CASSIMALLI RESTAURANT ON JOHN STREET ROBBED

J. Cassimalli reported to the police department today that his restaurant at 56 John street had been broken into during the night after the thief had escaped with $30 in bills. Entry had been obtained by forcing a rear door.

Where does a left-handed Scot keep his money? Why, in his right-hand pocket, of course. — Glendale News-Press.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning! Wake Up! The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. One blow up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sick and the world looks pink. Laxatives are only makeshifts. A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes three good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up". Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. Stubbornly refuse anything else. 2c.

NEW MATERIALS

BEAUTIFY BATHROOM

Great strides have been made during the past five years in perfecting new and efficient bathroom equipment, wall materials, and flooring. At the same time, heating appliances have been improved in keeping with the times. Many of the new materials on the market may be effectively adapted to the outmoded bath of 10 years ago. There is a wide variety of tile and composition tile on the market, all waterproof, which makes ideal siding and flooring for a bath and may be obtained in a wide variety of color schemes. Bathrooms have also been improved, beautified, and simplified. Bath tubs have also advanced in design. The bathroom may be completely transformed by rearrangement of fixtures and addition of new floor and wall materials.

Attic Repair Found Help to Housewife

Hundreds of homes throughout the Nation constructed during the last two decades include attic space. Many property owners have realized the advantages to be derived from modernizing such space.

A spacious recreation room may be created through the intelligent use of any of a number of wall and floor coverings now available on the market. Attics may also be transformed into "extra bedrooms," which are found to be very convenient and useful in the average home. Such projects need not run into large sums of money. Careful planning and an appropriate use of materials will create many novel, attractive effects.

PORCH REMOVAL TREND IN NEW MODERNIZATION

The trend in present-day exterior modernization projects generally includes the elimination of the front porch. Up-to-date homes consider privacy a keynote. With this in mind, numerous home owners have added additional living space and effectively improved the outer appearance of their homes by enclosing such porches. Entrance is gained generally through a small entrance hall. The enclosed front porch makes an ideal living room both for winter and summer and makes it possible to utilize interior space more effectively. It can often be used to enlarge the living room by combining them. Attractive broad shingle may replace weather boarding. The roof treatment may be simplified, and the addition of wrought-iron railings on entrance stairs adds additional charm. Inclusion of a decorative entrance door also strikes a new note.

Radical Change Under Way in Lighting Plan

Artificial lighting has undergone, and is still undergoing, a radical change. The tendency has been first from wall and ceiling fixture to lamps and now, with the influence of modern design, indirect lighting is coming into greater prominence.

It is difficult to say what the ultimate solution will be. All have their uses and it is probable that a combination of the three will be the ideal arrangement. In the purely utilitarian rooms, such as the kitchen, laundry, utility room, etc., ceiling lights for general illumination will stay. In special places, like over the kitchen sink, possibly some indirect, or semi-indirect, lighting may ultimately become standard, but where work is to be done a strong direct light will be wanted.

In the living room, library, and other rooms of general social use, a combination of lamps and indirect lighting will be used. Some general illumination will be needed and the softness of indirect light will best serve this purpose. For reading and for ordinary home use lamps are preferable.

The dining room will also be lighted indirectly for general illumination, but the use of candles on the table will doubtless continue as nothing is so flattering as their soft light. Bed rooms, too, may go to indirect lighting for general illuminating purposes, with strong direct light—either in the form of a ceiling fixture or a lamp—at the dressing table, or a single bulb rosette center ceiling light for general purposes.

Multiplicity of wall receptacles for attaching lamps and other devices is a certainty. The downward tendency of electric rates, which is likely to continue for some time, and the reduction in the cost of equipment that its increasing use will bring about, will tend to multiply the number of lights used in the average home.

Haile Gives Reins To Crown Prince

America before returning to Ethiopia.

115 Millions Appropriated

Rome, April 22.—An additional appropriation of 1,440,000,000 lire—about $115,000,000—was published in Italy's official gazette today as Italian troops drove straight at Addis Ababa and were reported less than 70 miles from the capital.

This information placed the advance guard of the Fascist forces about 95 miles south of Dessale, former field headquarters of Emperor Haile Selassie, in the Selma Media region near Ambo.

The main Italian force, some 20,000 strong, was rolling south in a flying column of 1,000 trucks. The column was encountering no opposition on its 165-mile drive from Dessale to Addis Ababa, reliable sources said.

Its speed was limited only by the necessity of maintaining contact with the advanced scouting columns.

The Italian commander telegraphed also that the troops on the southern Ethiopian front had advanced about 150 kilometers since the start of the current push.

All Italy prepared today for a vast mobilization, or "Agnunata," which it was believed Premier Mussolini plans to call when his African expedition marches into Addis Ababa.

For the masses of the Italians Addis Ababa already was virtually the same as taken.

Uster Park Card Party

The Community Hall Committee of the hall at Uster Park will hold a card party in the hall on Friday evening, April 24, at 8 o'clock. Pinochle, bridge and other games will be played. Refreshments will be served. The patronage of the public is solicited.

Shop Remodeled

K. G. Kravem and Joseph Leotta, formerly of 27 East Strand, who recently took over the Central Barber Shop at 646 Broadway, have completed the installation of new and modern fixtures. The shop has been completely remodeled and refurnished throughout.

Father Kennedy Tells Of Present Needs of Catholic Charities

Special needs in repairs, replacements and additional facilities in the many institutions of the New York Archdiocese make it imperative that every effort be extended this year to swell the contributions of the laity to the annual appeal for funds to a new high mark, the Rev. William H. Kennedy of St. Mary's Church declared in a statement to The Freeman today.

Mounting budgets in recent years due to the depression, he declared, necessarily have pushed aside much necessary maintenance and extension work. This neglect must be repaired at once if the high standards of Catholic Charities' welfare work is to be maintained, he said.

The week of April 26 has been designated by Cardinal Hayes for the appeal in the 370 parishes of the Archdiocese, in which time an army of 25,000 trained lay workers will make a house to house and floor to floor canvass of each parish.

"Catholic Charities has always been supported in its annual appeal by the ardent loyalty of thousands of the laity, men and women who have given unstintingly of their means, their time and their labor," Father Kennedy said.

"Special efforts will be made in each of the 370 parishes in the Archdiocese to meet deficits which have been growing with cumulative force during the years. Twenty-three Catholic hospitals, for example, had an operating deficit of $292,438.00 last year.

"The Family Division, which, as its name implies, deals with the problems of families, was under particularly heavy pressure during 1935. Fifty-one percent of the families which received relief were newcomers to the relief roles. Care of the aged is another function of the Family Division and several homes for the aged are supported.

Nearly 34,000 children in the Archdiocese were cared for and supervised last year by the 74 child caring agencies of Catholic Charities. These agencies include the New York Home for the Blind, the largest private child-placing institution in the United States; twenty-five day nurseries; twenty-two homes for dependent children; eight homes for the care of blind, deaf, crippled and delinquent children; and many other miscellaneous agencies.

"The difficulty of obtaining employment for dependent children in institutions and boarding homes has resulted in a greatly increased burden since such children have to be kept two or three years beyond the time when normally they would be earning a living. Positions for 725 boys and girls were obtained.

Catholic Charities also maintains agencies dealing with social and recreational action such as the Catholic Youth Association, summer camps, settlements, residences for business girls, boy and girl scout troops, clubs, etc.

Immediate and increasing operating costs in all these institutions had to be taken care of first during the past years. Necessarily this was at a sacrifice of funds for replacement, new equipment, expansion of plant and structure. This dislocation must be corrected.

Father Kennedy further stated: "Regardless of federal, state and municipal relief in public welfare activities, there will always be a need for private charitable work and this need in large part, can best be met by groups with a definite spiritual message and appeal.

"New York Catholic Charities is a model for private charities through this country; it is a permanent and continuing contribution to the public welfare; its concerns run the gamut of life from the cradle to the grave, in sickness and in health. In more instances than in generally known, its beneficent influence is available to needy and suffering regardless of race or creed.

"It merits the support of all good citizens as well as the faithful laity of the church."

At St. Mary's rectory at noon today, a gathering of the active parish directors of Uster Church was held. At this meeting Dean Stanley welcomed the men, and expressed his supreme confidence that the directors of this district would as usual support Cardinal Hayes in his annual appeal for charities. Father Edward A. Hayes from Catholic Charities' Central Office, explained in detail the manner in which the campaign this year would be conducted.

The chairman of this meeting was the Rev. William H. Kennedy, district manager of the campaign of this country.

Y. M. C. A. Auxiliary Meeting

The annual meeting of the Y. M. C. A. Women's Auxiliary will be held at the Y. on Friday at 3 p. m. Election of officers will take place and annual reports will be given. All members are asked to bring or send their dues for the coming year to this meeting. Plans for the work of the year will be discussed and a full attendance is requested.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By CLAUDE E. JACQUES

New York, April 22 (AP).—The stock market retained most of its forenoon gains of fractions to 2 points on a diminishing scale of activity during late trading today.

At the beginning of the final hour industrial specialties, metals and rails were the strongest groups. The trading pace had slowed down to a dog trot.

Shares showing gains of 1 to 2 points included J. I. Case, Bendix, Columbian Carbon, Westinghouse, American Telephone, Western Union, Santa Fe, General Motors, Chrysler, Anaconda and American Smelting. Fractional improvement was shown by U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, New York Central, and Consolidated Edison. The late tone was firm. Sales approximated 1,500,000 shares.

State Milk Suffers from Paid Propaganda, Senator Kelly Charges

Albany, N. Y., April 22 (AP).—Senator George B. Kelly, Rochester Democrat, charged today that "paid propagandists" were attempting to "undermine the confidence of producers and hinder the orderly marketing of milk in New York state."

Sensor Kelly, rising to a point of high personal privilege on the Senate floor, declared that without state control over the industry "the control would be back into the hands of a huge milk ring to be operated for the benefit of certain individuals."

Sensor Kelly called attention to an article in the "Sheffield Producer," a dairymen's publication, written by Byrne A. Pyrk, former state commissioner of agriculture, in which he charged "milk and politics are now intermingled" and that the recent milk hearing at Albany was conducted like a "Nazi election."

Kelly referred to Pyrk and said "he stepped directly from that high office (state agriculture commissioner) into the employ of the Sheffield Company."

"This article," Kelly declared, "appears to be the work of a paid propagandist with no basis in truth or fact."

"I only want to point out to the Senators and Assemblymen who are honestly trying to seek a solution to this pressing milk problem."

Kelly continued "that things of this sort are hindering the orderly marketing of milk in this state."

"Falsities and misrepresentations of this sort are undermining the faith of producers in their dealers."

MARKET FOR FRUITS AND VEGETABLES

New York, April 22 (AP).—(State Department of Agriculture and Markets). The season's first shipment of rhubarb from the lower Hudson valley arrived today and sold at 4 cents per bunch. The quality of the rhubarb was excellent and of fairly good size.

The market for old crop white potatoes was about steady. Supplies and demand were moderate. New York upstate 100 lb. sacks round white potatoes U. S. No. 1, brought $2-12 1/2, occasionally higher. Michigan 100 lb. sacks Russet Burbank U. S. No. 1, wholesaled at $2-10-12 1/2 and Maine 100 lb. sacks George Washington U. S. No. 1, $2-10-12 1/2.

New York old crop cabbage supplies were light. The demand was rather light in a dull market. Danish white in 80 lb. sacks wholesaled at principally 40-50 cents but some fine quality sold as high as 60 cents.

The market for New York state topped beets and carrots was without material change since yesterday. Supplies were moderate and the demand sound. One hundred lb. round beets brought $1-15-12 1/2 and unwashed carrots $1-05-12 1/2.

Fresh receipts from New York state were light. The market was about steady. The demand was rather light. New York Baldwin apples, N. Y. U. S. Grade No. 1, 2 1/2 inch minimum and upward sold at 75c-81c per bushel basket or open box. $1-15-12 1/2 and McIntosh No. 1, $1-15-12 1/2, some $1-17-12 1/2. Miscellaneous varieties No. 1, 2 1/2 inch and upward sold from 75c-81c. Some poorer and scalded fruit sold lower.

MODES OF THE MOMENT

Taffeta forms elegant in new violene shades.
Liana Murwin

The dramatic elegance of this creation is achieved partly by its lustrous violene colors, shading from pinkish orchid to deep violet, and partly by its unique styling in softly draped, yet swishy taffeta.

With several different silhouettes in vogue this season, the new full skirted theme appears to be the leader, fullness falling gradually from the waist to the wide hemline. This effect is accomplished in some designs by full, floating panels from the waistline and revealing slender body lines beneath in filmy silhouette. The new formal gown pictured above indicates this smart full skirted trend in fashions for summery evenings. It uses supple taffeta in the new violene shades, the body of the gown in lighter tones while its wide and gracefully sweeping panel at back is of a deeper violet shading. The bodice is fashioned in bouffant folds and a large self-bow at the side waistline gives the desired balance to a beautiful gown which uses much fabric at the back.

Color being so importantly stressed this season in all lines of style merchandise, these new off shades of violet strike a smart note for formal wear and answer the quest for something different.

MAKE A PRETTY MARIAN MARTIN FROCK FOR LITTLE SISTER'S FESTIVE DAYS

PATTERN 9770

If she's about six, and ice cream is still the most important part of the party to her, she will adore this captivating frock with its double ruffled sleeves. At the round neck, three little bows (of either grosgrain or velvet) are a decidedly fetching note and the full, short skirt which is gathered to the simple ruffle allows plenty of room for active round legs. Panties are included—Suzie, elastic-topped, ones that may have a dainty lace edging. We have some good news for mother, too, for this little dress is easy to make, easy to launder and is most charming in the inexpensive cottons which are so popular this season. We suggest dotted swiss, batiste, or candy or toile with the bows in contrasting colors. Complete. Disassembled Marian Martin Sew Chart included.

Pattern 9770 may be ordered only in sizes 2, 4, 6 and 10. Size 4 requires 2 1/2 yards 36 inch fabric.

No Place Like Home For World's Wealthiest Girl

Somerville, N. J. (AP)—Be it ever so palatial there's no place like home to Mrs. James H. R. Cromwell, the former Doris Duke, who inherited the vast tobacco fortune of her father, the late James B. Duke, and came to be known as the world's richest girl.

She may roam the earth, as she did after her marriage, tasting the fruits of wealth in foreign lands, but she always comes back to Somerville.

Here she enjoys a 30-room house on a 2,300-acre estate with its forty-two miles of improved roads. Its woodland glens where bronze satyrs and Greek athletes ogle bronze dryads, and a multitude of bams and trout, fearless of capture, frisk in the eight lakes and the winding streams.

Enlarging the Residence

Across the deep woods and rolling greenward the big hall in the tower of the house booms the hours, and now there is the sound of workmen's hammers and song, for they are again enlarging the building. When the weather gets warmer the regular force of gardeners, farmers, woodmen and others who keep the estate in order, will be increased to 150.

Mrs. Cromwell was born on the estate, lived here most of her life, and has spent many week-ends here since her marriage and honeymoon. She has eleven servants, who occupy three floors.

The big rustic stone stable is now the garage—it looks like an automobile show room, and its floor is covered with matting.

Improvements of recent years include a swimming pool, 60 by 120 feet with underwater lighting effects; an indoor tennis court, and a lounge room where movies are shown.

Police On Guard

Two motorcycle policemen patrol the roads of the estate. Guards are always on duty at the entrance, and the grounds are strictly private.

The miles and miles of rustic stone fence cost James B. Duke $5 a cubic yard. There are marble statues in the house and other buildings, there are many fountains on the estate.

Should the Cromwells settle here for long periods at a time, Somerville would react only slightly. The town has always known Mrs. Cromwell, regards her as democratic—before her marriage she and her mother used to go to the movies in Somerville—and is, on the whole, glad the estate is situated near the town. The firemen especially like the mistress, for every time they extinguish a fire—grass or chimney—on the vast acres they are rewarded with a check for $100.

Mrs. James H. R. Cromwell, the former Doris Duke, spends much time in her old birthplace despite her extensive travels.

Girl Scouts ULSTER COUNTY COUNCIL

Camp Wendy

All aboard for the 1936 season at Camp Wendy, the Girl Scout camp at Walkkill, sponsored by the Ulster County Girl Scout Council. The season really started last February when Miss Helen Hasbrouck, the camp chairman, had a meeting in connection with an Ulster County Girl Scout Council meeting at the home of Mrs. Van Dyke Basten and at that time it was decided to make several improvements when the weather was more favorable all of which was in the distant future. Now it is the future and things are beginning to happen to make 1936 one of the biggest and best years in the history of Camp Wendy. The camp committee will meet at Camp Wendy Sunday afternoon, April 26, at 2:30 to make definite plans so that work may begin immediately. Miss Hasbrouck urges everyone to be present.

Last Monday, in New York city, a Camp Wendy counselors' reunion was held. Nine members of the Wendy staff were present. They met at the National Girl Scout Headquarters and had luncheon together. Most of the time was spent in discussing many of the happy times last season, also making plans for the coming summer. Those present were: Lillian Parrish, director; Estelle Putz, dietitian; Elsie Steller, Browns Unit head; Jean Anderson, Pioneer Unit head; Betty Croo, secretary; Catharine Bushe, dining room manager; Elizabeth B. S. H. cook, and Ann Poman, who is to be assistant in the Pioneer Unit. Messages were read from: Mrs. Helen Hasbrouck, New Paltz; Miss Eleanor Rose, Ellenville; Margaret Cusack, St. Paul; nurse; Ruth Simonson, Syracuse; Pioneer assistant; Sylvia Lardner, waterfront director, Waterville; Mass.; Adele Sheeley, Ellenville; canteen; Carolyn Jewett, Pirate Unit Head, Corning, N. Y.; Mary McManus, Kingston; Lost Boy Unit head; Margaret Stanton, Oberlin, Ohio; Pioneer Unit assistant.

It is with great pleasure and satisfaction that the camp committee welcome back Miss Parrish and so many of her former staff to Camp Wendy.

The camping season opens Saturday, July 4. For the first two weeks there will be a new waterfront unit (to be named by the campers). A canoe trip on the Walkkill river will be a feature of this unit.

The camp folders are ready and may be obtained from: Mrs. A. DuBois Rose, Fair street; Mrs. John McKinnon, 210 Albany avenue, or Miss Mildred Eaton, Ellenville.

DON'T LET TALK BETRAY YOU

Looking out on a better job and more money—all because of bad speech! But Molly would never believe it.

She's a bright energetic girl. As Mr. Rose has observed, "So when the firm needed a new reception-desk clerk, Mr. Rose thought Molly might be given a chance. He stopped by her desk for a little chat about the office work."

"I can't hardly enthuse about the new idea," she said. "They hadn't ought to be such a long way off from our desks. Those kind of records ought to be kept handy."

She was right about the files, but her frantically wrong about her English! Reassuringly Mr. Rose dropped her off his list as a possibility for the reception desk.

A day spent on weeding out errors in English!

Her bad speech is holding her back in many ways. It grates on Bob's nerves so that he's never dated her. Claire likes her, but is afraid she wouldn't quite fit in with her other friends at a party.

—COUNTY— Christian Endeavor NEWS—

Oratorical Contest

An oratorical contest is being sponsored by the New York State Christian Endeavor Union for Endeavorers throughout the state which affords an excellent training in public speaking and expression of thought. The general subject is "The Significance of the Christian Endeavor Motto—For Christ and The Church." Anyone is eligible who will be not more than 19 years old by June 1, and who is an active member of a Christian Endeavor society.

The orations must be written on some phase of the general subject and not to exceed 1,200 words. Local societies are urged to hold elimination contests either first through essays written on the theme or through local oratorical contests of their own, entering the winners in county union contests. The finals will be held at the 1936 State Convention in Poughkeepsie, July 2-5. Use of notes or manuscript will not be permitted in the finals. Four copies of the orations for the Final Contest must be sent to State Headquarters, 310 Prudential Bldg., Buffalo, before June 1. Name and address of contestant shall accompany manuscript separately. Decision of the judges shall be final and will be based fifty per cent on subject matter, covering grasp of subject, pertinence, rhetorical composition, grammatical construction, and Christian implication, and fifty per cent on delivery, covering platform appearance, enunciation, interpretation, voice control, and apparent preparation. Suitable recognition will be given each participant in the State finals, and the winner will receive special recognition and credit.

Official Board Meeting

The Official Board Meeting of the County Union will be held on Monday evening, May 4, at the home of C. Lee Powell, 46 Pine Grove avenue, this city. Arrangements for the rally with the State President Howard Laubsch, as the possible speaker, will be made.

County Pioneer Contest

The time is drawing near when the posters to be entered in the County Contest will be called in.

However there is still plenty of time for you to make a poster and enter the contest. It is expected and hoped that each society will submit at least one entry. There are no restrictions as to the materials to be used in making the poster, and any event of educational activity in the Christian Endeavor program may be advertised.

Plans For Last Meeting

The Church of The Comforter Endeavorers held their monthly business meeting last Friday night, at which time the financial standing of the organization was found to be excellent and the Dawn Service was reported as the outstanding success of the year. Plans for the last prayer meeting of the season were partially formed. This meeting will be held on Sunday evening, May 17, at Shady and will be in the form of a picnic supper and fireside discussion. All Comforter members are requested to keep this date in mind and make a special effort to make this last meeting of the season one of 100 per cent attendance.

Wurts Street Election

The Wurts Street Endeavor returns to this column after quite some absence with the report of the monthly business meeting and election of officers to be held Friday evening, April 24, at the church meeting room.

St. Remy Officers

The St. Remy Christian Endeavor held its election of officers at the first birthday party on April 13. The new president is Paul Pekin, with Miss Ella Hoffman as vice-president and Richard Millett, treasurer. The office of secretary is at present vacant.

Birthday At Bethany

The birthday party held at the Bethany Chapel last Tuesday evening proved a great event with some 50 members present. The entire assembly was grouped and a picture taken. The evening was given over to a song service, entertainment, and refreshments. The public installation of officers that was to have occurred last Sunday evening, was postponed until the following Sunday on account of a special service that was held in the chapel with the Rev. Arthur E. Gross of Ravena delivering the sermon. The Hobby Club will hold a regular meeting on Friday at the home of Mr. Shults on Len Court.

Port Eben Studies

Sunday evening marked the first of a series of studies of the first chapter of John for the young people of the Port Eben Endeavor. There are scheduled 11 more of these studies to take as may separate meetings, and to be in the form of discussions.

First Reformed Activities

The Endeavorers of the old First Reformed Church in Kingston held a very successful supper-meeting last Sunday evening with an attendance of 33 members. Sunday night's meeting will be some sort of surprise for the members. It will begin at 6:30 o'clock and will be sponsored by Mrs. Oudemool, who is hoping for another fine attendance and an equally fine meeting. Variety programs consisting of something different seems to be the motto of the Reformed organization.

Baptist Celebration

The Albany Avenue Baptist Christian Endeavor is one of the oldest organizations of its kind in Kingston, being formed in 1856 and they plan to celebrate the occasion with an Alumni Banquet on May 20. Both past and present members of the society are urged and invited to attend. Tickets will soon be on sale and may be procured from any member of the society. Last Sunday evening Mrs. Fuller conducted a fine memory service, while next Sunday's meeting will be led by Miss Jacobs and Mr. Jones, one having charge of the devotional period and the other the discussion group.

Social Postponed

The Spider Web Social that the Ponckhockie Congregational Endeavorers planned for April 21, was postponed until the 28th. The Sunday night prayer meeting will be in charge of Nelson Lewis, county vice-president, who will follow the topic, "How to Conquer Fear."

Testimony Given At Flood Control Hearing

the damage done during high water. From D. A. Ferris of Windham was received a letter telling of damage done there. His estimate of the damage in that vicinity was placed at thousands of dollars.

Others who wrote of damage to private property were Ward C. Hummel of Shandaken, who stated the creek was closing in on his property at each flood and that serious financial damage resulted. Fred S. Osterhout also wrote of flood damage to his property along the Bushkill creek, which was one of the creeks to do vast damage during the past spring flood. This creek not only damaged private property but washed out the roadway for a long distance and carried away bridges and cribbing which had been placed.

Theodore Steinberg, who owns considerable property on the west side of the Esopus at Mt. Tremper along the Mt. Pleasant road, also wrote from New York of the damage done. He stated that during the past few years great damage had been done to land and also to homes which became flooded during high water in the Esopus. Highways leading past his property he said were seriously damaged and unless some relief was given he stated property would be greatly depleted in value.

D. V. Z. Bogert, county maintenance engineer for the State Highway Department, told of damage to state highways and bridges amounting to $20,000 during the last flood. He stated that this damage done this spring was only a slight evidence of what damage might be expected if conditions were not remedied.

The matter of damage done through the introduction of additional "foreign" water into the Esopus creek by the city of New York through the Shandaken tunnel was brought to the attention of the commission by Nellie E. McGrath, who told of damage to her property near Phenicia. She said that people who had lived in the section for a great many years could not recall damage such as had been done since New York city introduced the Gilboa water into the Esopus creek.

Everett Rooma of Downs street, Kingston, who owns a property in Watson Hollow, told of the damage done to his place. He said flood waters had all but ruined the property and conditions were getting worse with each flood.

County Clerk Simpson Testifies.

County Clerk James A. Simpson, who as a former supervisor from Shandaken has had much to do with flood conditions in the town and who was one of the most active residents of the Esopus valley in having the Goodwin bill introduced, spoke of the severe floods which have taken place in the territory since 1924. He told of efforts which have been made in the past to have the officials of the City of New York turn off the Shandaken tunnel in times of high water. During the first flood after the tunnel was turned on he said it was impossible to get the water turned off, despite frantic telephone and telegraph communication with New York but since then results have been better. He explained that when the tunnel was shut off at Gilboa it took four hours for the tunnel to drain off and during this time the flow of water added to the flood conditions in the Esopus and great damage was often done. The height of the Esopus often arose to flood conditions before the effect of the turning off of the tunnel was noticeable and this Shandaken tunnel water created a serious menace when added to the rapidly rising Esopus creek. He referred to the flood of 1933 when he said he was down the stream engaged in aiding in the rescue of women and children who had become stranded by the rapidly rising water and he was unable to tell just when the tunnel was shut off at that time. This was the flood in which one man lost his life in the attempt to rescue the people. He spoke of the rapid rise in the narrow valley of the Esopus creek and of the nature of the soil which is of clay and gravel. Once the gravel and stone washes away the banks of the stream follow. His suggestion was that the streams be dredged out and that brush in the stream be cleaned to give a clear waterway.

George J. Byron of Mt. Tremper who owns a property on the west side of the Esopus creek a short distance below the Mt. Tremper-Mt. Pleasant bridge which was damaged by the last flood also spoke on the matter of control. His property has been gradually washed away by each succeeding flood until little of it remains. He said the trouble started when New York city began to flood the stream with the Gilboa reservoir water. Mr. Byron introduced in evidence letters from property owners along the creek, relative to their damage.

Damage from the Mombaccus creek which empties in the Rondout at Accord was brought to the attention of the commission by Supervisor Howard C. Anderson of Rochester. Several times each year he said the Mombaccus creek overflowed the main state highway and stopped traffic. Heights up to eight feet have been recorded and he showed pictures, which were filed with the commission, to indicate the conditions. In addition he referred to town road damage.

Leonard Ford told of damage along Birch and Bushkill creeks in Shandaken and Greene county and referred to the damage of the last flood this spring when the docking and roadway was washed away. Damage on the Beaverkill was referred to by James Tobey, who said foundations of homes had been damaged and houses moved during recent floods.

Damage done by the Bushkill at Windham was referred to by Warren Huffy. He told of a shift in the channel so that the stream flowed around a bridge and he told of the washing away of $500 of property which had been placed by one of the residents of the town.

30 feet. In times of high water he said he had to abandon his home. The Livingston Manor Post American Legion told of the attack of streams on their Post property. There were several other communications filed.

Oral Testimony

In addition to the letters and communications filed an opportunity was given for oral testimony. Supervisor Andrews of Shandaken submitted a number of photographs showing the Esopus in flood times and he stated that the problem was too big for local authorities to cope with.

County Superintendents of Highways James F. Loughran offered the cooperation of his department and stated that survey of the damage done was now underway. He spoke of the damage to highways and bridges.

Supervisor Robert A. Snyder of Saugerties spoke of the damage done in his town and Supervisor Gordon of Hunter told of damage done there where the creek runs through the center of the town. Last year he said bridges were carried away and temporary ones were erected only to be carried away again this year.

In answer to a question as to amount of damage he said $150,000 damage had been done in the past three years.

Supervisor Lemuel DuBois of Olive told of damage done by the Bushkill each year and of the gradual destruction of property in the valley. Each year dredging was done to some extent but he said the town was unable to spend sufficient funds to clear up the situation. The matter had been taken to Albany and the estimate of the project was $52,000. Each year the damage was becoming more serious. Roads were washed away each time of a flood and the cost on the town was great.

Herman Roth of the Ulster County Taxpayers' Council spoke of damage done in Saugerties by the Plattekill creek.

Among the speakers who addressed the meeting was Assemblyman J. Edward Conway who attended the meeting in an official capacity. He said he had given the matter of flood control much study and he believed that it was obvious that some kind of flood control was needed in the mountain sections. Since about 1924 he said the Esopus valley had been visited by seven major floods and the loss to property owners was great. He said a fair estimate might be placed at $300,000 and the situation was growing worse. The constant saturation of the creek bed with its clay soil made the damage a progressive one and unless something was done to control the water damage would continue to grow more serious. He referred to the loss of life and said that in view of the fact that there had been some mismanagement as to the nature of the hearing he hoped that additional briefs would be received by the commission relative to money damages. Each year as the creek washed away its banks increased territory is flooded and greater damage is done. He urged continuation of the survey and some adequate remedy.

Charles W. Walton appeared as a property owner in Olive and Shandaken and also for property owners along the creek. He said that the floods were constantly depreciating the property in the valley and there was a resultant increase in taxes which the property owners must bear. He referred to the Hudson River Flood Control Commission of which he had been a member and told of the benefit which had resulted from flood control in the upper Hudson and Mohawk. As to his own personal loss each year through floods in the Esopus valley he estimated it at between $200 and $300. As a matter of health he said some flood control should be considered for conditions which existed after each flood were not such as should be permitted along a stream which supplies water for human consumption as the Ashokan reservoir does.

Albert Kurdt of the Farm Bureau appeared for property owners along the lower Esopus creek and stated that damage had resulted last year amounting to at least $12,000 to lowland farmers and this year the damage would be greater. He said that prior to the construction of the creek was kept clear each spring by the breaking up of the heavy ice but since that time the stream had been sluggish, brush grew up and partially obstructed the creek and the result was partial natural dam which held back water and caused flooding of lowlands. He suggested the cleaning of the channel of brush and debris.

At the conclusion of the hearing no intimation was given as to what opinion the commission held in the matter or as to what recommendations would be forthcoming.

Civil Cases Monday In County Court

County Judge Frederick G. Traver will bring the jurors in attendance at the present term of the county court back Monday afternoon at 1 o'clock for the purpose of giving counsel in civil cases an opportunity to try any case which may be ready upon the civil calendar.

The first week of county court was devoted to civil trials and at the beginning of the second week criminal cases were taken up. At that time there were still several civil matters on the calendar in which attorneys had expressed a desire to go to trial before a jury. Any such cases may be brought to the attention of the court next Monday when the jurors will return.

MINERS FIGHT TO SAVE ENTOMBED MEN

Racing against time, Nova Scotia miners are shown as they frantically dug an emergency shaft in an attempt to rescue two men trapped 141 feet below the surface in a rockslide in a gold mine at Moose River, N. S. A third man died more than a week after being entombed but the survivors called for aid. (Associated Press Photo.)

ing that they were able to talk to Dr. D. E. Robertson, entrapped in the Moose River gold mine.

The rescue of the noted Toronto surgeon and his companion, Charles Alfred Scadding, who have been imprisoned underground more than nine days, was believed to be only a short time away.

The rescuers' report came a few minutes after Dr. Robertson had reported to the surface over his one-way telephone that he was able to hear the voices of the rescue party. Whether only a few inches of rock separated the rescuers from the imprisoned men or whether their voices traveled through some small crevice in the rock barrier was not immediately known.

The hundreds of rescue workers and engineers on the surface, 141 feet above the spot where Robertson, Scadding, and Herman Magill, Toronto attorney, were caught by a rock slide Easter Sunday night were electrified by the welcome news from underground. Magill, they knew, was dead of exposure, and nothing had been heard from Scadding since last night, but they believed Robertson and Scadding had been kept alive by the skill of the indomitable physician, who has remained cheerful throughout the wet, black, tiresome days and nights which have elapsed since the men were buried alive.

Harold Gordon of Stellarton, N. S., in charge of underground operations, gave permission at once to Joe Simpson, daring leader of the draegermen crew, to return to the face of the rescue passage which has been thrust underground by nearly exhausted men in record-breaking time.

Thus it was believed that the draegermen, those highly trained miners who are entrusted with rescue work in Nova Scotia, would have the honor of being the first to greet Dr. Robertson and Scadding.

Throughout the days and nights of battle against rock and dirt, the draegermen and hundreds of expert miners and volunteers have contended to see who should be the first to penetrate to the living tomb. Gordon ordered his draegermen to stay down at the bottom of the shaft until they brought the entombed men out.

Simpson and his crew went back to the shaft face at 9:00 a. m. Atlantic standard time (8:00 a. m. E. S. T.).

The men with Simpson were George Morrell of Stellarton and H. Hirschfeld of Goldenville, the same pair that helped him when the Reynolds shaft, down which they were working, when it was first opened early Sunday morning.

The men, in advancing down the mine's main operating shaft, said today they were encountering much easier going.

They were digging through fallen rock and gravel and removing and shoring up the timbers and planks which caved in Easter Sunday.

The estimate on the time required was considerably shortened at 10:55 a. m. when the draegermen at the advance point of penetration reported back on their telephone that they expected to break through "any minute now."

Tells Her Children

Mrs. Robertson has remained constantly at the scene for a week. Despite weariness and fear, she has remained strong and cheerful.

Draegerman Morrell, who was one of those to report that he had been able to hear Dr. Robertson's voice, said: "The doctor said Scadding's feet are swollen awful bad."

Scadding is believed to be suffering from "trench feet," due to long exposure in the wet and cold. Dr. Morrell said there was evidence of a draft at the bottom of the rescue shaft, indicating that a crevice actually has been opened into the prisoners' chamber.

Said Morrell: "There is nothing to it now. It's plain sailing. The danger part is over."

Mr. Simpson and Hirschfeld went back into the shaft with planks in their mouths. It was something they never would have done back in the coal mines at Stellarton, but gold miners, they have learned, are not so likely to contain dangerous superstitions.

At 10:45 a. m. local time, workers in the shaft said they were not sure of the exact distance they had in the way to reach the chamber, but they should be able to clear a pas-

Great Precautions To Care for Two Men

No More Measurements.

The men below ground no longer were stopping to take measurements. They were just doggedly digging. Doctors in the emergency hospital unit at the surface, waiting to receive the victims immediately after their rescue, appeared to be concerned over the condition of the two survivors.

Dr. Robertson had reported his feet were "getting cold."

Only two men could work at one time against the face of the barrier in the three-foot-wide operating shaft, passing the earth and rock back to a long chain of miners.

Over the heads of the rescue crew was a slowly-sinking upper level, virtually unsupported, it lowered gradually until today it was 10 feet below the point it reached immediately after the original collapse of the structure.

One rescue worker was reported injured by a fall of stone in the dangerous operating shaft, leading to the 141-foot level, at 2:30 a. m. Dr. Donald Rankin, one of the emergency medical staff at the surface, said no one was hurt.

Dr. Robertson and Scadding, who remained alive for more than a week without food or warmth until communication from the surface was established through a diamond-drill bore, had received no more nourishment since Sunday—the night Magill died.

The veteran physician still maintained his courage, nevertheless.

"Oh, I'm good for another 48 hours," Dr. Robertson, part owner of the mine, reported at 12:45 a. m.

Scadding spoke to his brother, Fred, late last night, and reported he was trying to rest as easily as possible while awaiting rescue.

Rotated cribwork in the main operating shaft collapsed during the night, delaying the rescue work but carpenters rushed in to replace the old supports with new timbers while the miners tunneled on through the last mud and rock wall to the lower level.

Industrial Minstrel Rehearsal Thursday

Sentence Suspended

Bernard MacDonald, indicted for assault upon his wife, his father-in-law and mother-in-law, was sentenced in county court to a term of from 2 to 4 years at Clinton State Prison.

Execution of the sentence was suspended during good behavior and on condition he remain away from Ulster county.

An agreement was also made to make payments toward the support of his family. A civil action which had been pending was also settled.

Report Freighters In Collision Here

Last night two ocean going freighters, the Malemack and the Sanseimo were reported in collision in the Hudson river off Kingston Point, but inquiry among the shipping interests brought out the fact that they had no information regarding the crash. The Sanseimo lay off Rhinebeck today and from the Kingston shore it appeared as though her bow had been crushed in, but otherwise she appeared to be undamaged. Word of the collision was in the form of a request from the Port Authority at Albany asking one of the local shipping concerns to send them information regarding the crash. It was stated that the captain of one of the freighters had telegraphed the Port Authority that the boats had been in collision. The Malemack appeared to be anchored today near the Esopus lighthouse.

Moose River Mine Gold Found in 1866

Moose River, N. S., April 22 (P).—Gold, which lured three men into a tomb for the living at the Moose River mine, was discovered accidentally by lumbermen in 1866. Loggers made the find as they blasted rock to widen a stream down which to float timber to mill.

The original Moose River Mining Co. was formed in 1881 and mining operations began the following year. Since then gold has been taken from the area at intervals for years.

Dr. D. E. Robertson and Herman Magill of Toronto, bought the entire property a few months ago and with Charles Alfred Scadding, an experienced miner, were inspecting it when they were entombed by a rock slide April 12. Magill died of exposure Monday morning.

Body Found at Foughkeepsie, N. Y., April 22.—The body of a man about 65 found on a dump a few feet from a main street today. An internment at Francis Hospital where the body taken said there were bruises on the throat. It was believed the man had been dead three or four hours. A bank book was issued to Charles E. Wilcox. Beside the body were pocketbook with nine cents and bottles.

Tagging Major League Bases

By ANDY CLARKE
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Hank Leib, cleanup man of the Giants, chuckled today in the satisfaction that Jimmy Wilson, pilot of the Phils, had paid for his lack of respect.

Hank was the central figure in a polo grounds drama that featured a day on which cold, rain and darkness conspired to cause postponement of four major league games and halt two others before completion; a day on which Bob (Lefty) Grove hung up his second win of the season and weird baseball came again to the park of the Brooklyn Dodgers.

In the ninth inning, the score was tied and the winning run was on second base. Curt Davis was on the mound for the Phils and Mel Ott was advancing to the plate for the Giants when Wilson, yelling "wait a minute," ran out to the pitcher's box for a conference. He glanced at Ott and then at Leib, the latter swinging a couple bats in the background. Then he made his decision.

"Pass Ott and pitch to Leib," Leib began to swing those bats viciously as Davis intentionally passed Ott and the import of the insult deepened.

Hank leaned on the second ball pitched for a clean single to center field. Jimmy Rippe scrambled around third to home and Hank, crossing first base, looked to the Phils' dugout to see Wilson disappearing into its depths. The final score was 7-6.

Grove held the Washington Senators to three scattered hits as the Red Sox defeated the Nats 8-1 in a game that was halted in the seventh inning by darkness and rain.

The Brooklyn Dodgers-Boston Bees game was called in the 12th inning because of darkness with the score tied at 6-6. Dick Siebert was the man who failed for the Dodgers. With the bases loaded in the last half of the 12th, Siebert stepped to the plate and hit into a double play.

The Athletics gave the Yankees plenty of trouble before going down 7-6. Three Yankee pitchers saw duty. Johnny Broaca was chased after bringing his team into the ninth with a five run lead. Johnny Murphy and Pat Malone also saw duty before Malone made Pinkie Higgins four out and Warstler ground out to Crosely with the tying run on third. Bill Dickey belted his third homer of the season with two on in the third.

Yesterday's STARS

(By The Associated Press)

Bill Dickey, Yankees—His third home run of the year with two on in third featured victory over Athletics.

Jimmy Bucher, Dodgers—His three hits led the attack on Bees, his last single being mainly responsible for tying score in 10th.

Hank Leib, Giants—Singled in ninth to score run that beat Phils, 7-6.

Lefty Grove, Red Sox—Let Senators down with three hits in 6-1-3 innings and won second straight game.

Budge and Van Ryn in Quarter Finals Today

White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., April 22. (AP)—The Davis cuppers mixed it among themselves today in the Mason-Dixon tennis tournament with Don Budge and Johnny Van Ryn as the battlers.

Van Ryn, the Philadelphia double ace on the squad, is the only team member in the second bracket. His third round victory yesterday over Roland McKee of Dayton, O., sent him against the redoubtable redhead from Oakland, Calif., in the quarter finals.

Budge ran into a miniature dual storm in his third round match and had some trouble before eliminating R. McElwenny of Washington 6-0, 8-6, 6-2.

Other quarter-final matches found Bryan (Bitar) Grant of Atlanta playing Wilmer Hines of Los Angeles. Wilmer Allison, Davis cup captain, meeting Hal Surface of Kansas City and Gene Mako of Los Angeles against J. Gilbert Hall of New York. Eunice Dean of San Antonio, Tex., continued her victories in the women's singles, her latest being a 6-4, 6-0 conquest of Mrs. J. H. Williams of Springfield, Mass.

Will Have Full Quota at Olympics

By ALAN GOULD

(Associated Press Sports Editor)

New York, April 22 (AP)—All "bear" stories to the contrary notwithstanding, you Uncle Samuel is going to muster a full quota of athletic boys and girls for the eleventh Olympiad in Berlin this summer.

The fund-raising has met with difficulties in certain localities but the powers-that-be in the American Olympic committee now have sufficient assurances, plus prospects, to guarantee that at least 350 athletes will wear the traditional shield in competition abroad.

Financing plans now call for each sport to handle the cost of sending its own representation to Berlin. Thus, while the basketball tryouts fell far short of expectations and failed to contribute much, if anything, to the general Olympic funds, enough was obtained to pay the expenses of the basketball squad to Berlin and back. It is hoped the general fund will fare a bit better from the gate receipts of the final boxing tryouts, to be held in Chicago.

Expenses $500 per Capita
The "per capita" cost of sending the American team to Germany has been sharply reduced, according to the latest information. Originally it was figured at least $750 would be required to pay all expenses, per athlete. Now it is estimated $500 will cover each individual's board, lodging and transportation, without any comfort of home being missed or meals skipped.

Thus, while the Olympic committee still is aiming at $500,000, to cover all expenses, including some bills left over for the winter sports, it can fall short of that goal without the necessity of trimming the team personnel.

Track and field, which will have the biggest squad, counts upon the receipts from final tryouts to put them safely on the boat leaving New York July 15, with enough money to pay the bills. At least $20,000 is expected from this source.

These tryouts probably will go to Palmer Stadium, Princeton, July 10-11, despite prior announcement that they will be conducted at the new Randall's Island Stadium here. Positive assurances have been given that the Randall's Island project will be completed and the Triborough Bridge opened, not later than July 2, but Olympic officials feel it will be safer and more productive of the needed revenue to plan on using the Princeton field.

St. Joseph, Mo.—Pat Kinsinger, 142, Kansas City, knocked out Al O'Day, 128, Hollywood, Calif., (3).

Derby Eve Bout Matches

Welter Champ With Woods

Louisville (AP)—At a sideshow to the main attraction provided by the Kentucky Derby, sports fans next month will be offered the Derby eve fight.

The Derby will be run May 2. On the night before, Welterweight Champion Barney Ross of Chicago will battle Chuck Woods of Detroit in the Derby's annual static prelude. Jack Dempsey will referee.

Boring was legalized in Kentucky in 1921, and since then the Derby eve fights have become a fixture on the Louisville sports program. The large crowds attracted by the $40,000 horse race have been tempting to promoters, who do their best to get their hands on some of the plentiful spending money.

Ten world champions have appeared on previous cards, including the top men of every class except flyweight and heavyweight.

Titleholders who strutted their stuff before Derby crowds include Joe Lynch and Bud Taylor, bantamweight; Freddie Miller, featherweight; Jack Bernstein, junior lightweight; Sammy Mandell, lightweight; Pinkie Mitchell, junior welterweight; Jackie Fields, welterweight and middleweight, and Tommy Loughran, light-heavyweight.

BARNEY ROSS

The record gate of the Derby eve fights was taken in 1921, when a crowd paid $21,600 to see Lynch battle Pat Moore of Memphis.

City Bowling League Final Averages

The Immanuels captured the City Bowling League Championship for the season of 1935-1936 by a margin of 3 games over the Colonials and Uptown Merchants. The Immanuels held the lead since the week of February 17 and due to their excellent bowling, won first place honors. The team swept off 73,368 pins from the alleys with an average of 905 per game.

The Colonials and Uptown Merchants are tied for second place and will fight it out some night before the annual banquet. These two teams have done some splendid bowling and deserve credit for their good work.

Randy Kelder's 277 single was made at the Colonial Alleys on the opening night and held good all through the year.

December 9 Lou Hynes rolled 556 high three games, but this score was taken down by Lou Smith on March 30 with a big 674.

Lou Hynes captured high individual league average with 192 and 8 pins to spare. H. Emerick was in a close race with Hynes, finishing with 190 and 21 pins over.

Columbia Crew Is Most Promising of Any in Several Years

New York, April 22 (AP)—It is unlikely that Columbia's crew will be the gem of the ocean this year, but by Coach Hubert Glendon's own admission he has the most promising group of huskies in several years. A victory over Navy last Saturday revealed the Lions as a powerful unit, surprisingly smooth in seamanship.

Not a man in either the varsity or the Jayvee boat this year had ever seen a shell except in the news reels until he came to Columbia and only two, of the entire squad, have had varsity experience.

Most of the squad is recruited from last year's freshman crew. The two veterans in the varsity boat are Captain Arnold Redding, who is rowing No. 2, and Arnold Way, at No. 7. Hays Shimp, a youngster, is stroking the varsity, setting the pace for George Rahilly, bow; Redding; Henry Burtill, No. 3; Bill Cook, No. 4; Bill Bernius, No. 5; Bill Murphy, No. 6; and Way. Coxswain Russell Shorten was with the varsity last year. All are New Yorkers. The youngsters averaged 180 pounds when they first started working March 4 but have dropped to an average of about 175 now.

Will Have Jayvee Crew
Since it is the policy of Glendon not to raid Coach Lou Little's football squad for material, Columbia has had trouble in the past few years getting enough men to make up two heavyweight boats. This year, however, the Lions have re-entered Jayvee competition.

The current Jayvee eight is stroked by Ed Kloth and back of him are Robert Martin, Fred Friend, Stan Leggett, Bill Kurz, John Zumbach, Graham McConnell and Philip Baas. Like all the varsity oarsmen, they are all New Yorkers.

Glendon is assisted by his father, "Old Dick" Glendon, and by Alastair MacBain, a member of the great 1929 Columbia crew, which was unbeaten.

After the Child's cup race with Penn and Princeton here Saturday, the Lions will meet Yale and Penn at Derby, Conn., May 2; and Harvard and Massachusetts Tech at Cambridge May 9, before going into training for the four-mile Poughkeepsie regatta June 22.

If the varsity does well with this schedule, Glendon said Columbia would enter the Olympic trials at Princeton, July 3-4.

D. A. R. Alleges Reds Elected to Congress

Washington, April 22 (AP)—The D. A. R. heard from its national defense chairman today that "masquerading" Communists have succeeded in getting elected to congress and are "boring from within."

Mrs. Vinton Earl Mason, in a report for delivery to the 45th Continental Congress of the Daughters of the American Revolution, warned that these "Communists" are trying to change the American form of government through amendments to the constitution.

"Do you know," she asked, "that there are pending between 65 and 70 proposed amendments?"
"And there is no monopoly on the part of any one political party, either, for one notes about as many so-called Republicans who want changes as there are so-called Democrats. Your chairman uses the word 'so-called' advisedly, for in the truth the most voracious of these would-be amendments are neither the one nor the other, but would seem to be Socialists or Communists, masquerading under the protective cloak of one of the major parties."

Hands Full of Girls.

Fairbanks, Alaska, April 22 (AP)—Noel Wilson, Alaskan aviator, had his hands full of girl airplane stowaways today. Attired in mukluks and parkas, Alice Tobok, 10, full-blooded Eskimo, Mary Ulen, 10, and her sister, Florence, eight, hid themselves in the storage compartment of Wilson's plane yesterday and rode to Fairbanks from Wiseman, 175 miles away. Now they don't want to go home—not even by airplane. "Like pretty houses, talking pictures," chorused the trio while seeing the sights in town. "Like pretty, couldn't get enthusiastic over ice cream. The three will return with Wilson to Wiseman tomorrow."

The Editor
Kingston Daily Freeman
Kingston, New York
Dear Sir:

Under date of April 17th your newspaper in an article concerning the appeal of the town of Wawarsing to the State Tax Commission for the review of the equalization of the tax table prepared by the Board of Supervisors contained the following: "The entire proceeding cost will thus devolve upon Wawarsing." This statement is erroneous. If the Town of Wawarsing is successful in this appeal, not only will its tax rate be reduced but the entire cost of the proceedings will devolve upon the county of Ulster.

Very truly yours,
LE ROY LOUNSBERRY.

Intense War-like Activity in Mongolia

Hsinking, Amchoukuo, April 22 (AP)—Despite Japanese protestations the incidents on the Mongolian border are unlikely to have explosive consequences. Intense martial activity at Hallar, chief Manchoukuoan bulwark of offense and defense.

That picturesque frontier outpost peopled by Chinese, Mongols, Russians and Japanese, is crowded with uniformed men, many of whom are newly arrived.

Heavily-armed Japanese patrols move ceaselessly through the streets, and trucks, armored cars and ambulances chug out of the city at all hours to disappear in the rolling wastes surrounding Hallar, border point of the Japanese-sponsored Manchoukuo.

Even through railroad passengers do not escape the heavy atmosphere of suspicion. All window shades of trains are pulled down at points 15 miles from Hallar, and are kept down until the same distance on the other side of the city has been reached.

Note on the passing of the blonde: At R-K-O studio Margot Grahame and Lucille Ball are the only blondes among 24 contract players.

Alfred Professors Sign Whiskers Compact

Alfred, N. Y., April 22 (AP)—Eight Alfred University professors have signed a compact to raise whiskers "and divers kindred tonorial accoutrements" so as to give the university's centennial celebration this spring a touch of 1836.

Their compact says they desired to reproduce as nearly as possible "the spirit of the time of the founding" and that since "the aforementioned period of antiquity is known to have been marked by the rearing of moustaches, burnside, goatees, whiskers and divers kindred tonorial accoutrements," they agreed "to bring forth, foster, nurture and perfect such facial adornments as nature has endowed us severally the power to achieve."

The principal interest of agriculture is a fair price for its products—plus a stable market in which demand is closely attuned to supply. The farmer wants to know when he raises a crop that he can find a buyer for it—and that the price paid will leave him something above the bare cost of production.
